WE NOMINATE

Georges Vasilievich Florovsky, one of the versatile scholars of this century and known to hundreds of Princetonians by the flowing black robes frequently seen scudding along Nassau Street, who at age 75 continues to overwhelm his associates and students with the scope and depth of his knowledge. At a time of life when many seem content to slow the pace of their daily lives, this Russian-born theologian, philosopher, statesman and archpriest of the Orthodox Church, thoroughly at home in 16 ancient and modern languages (ranging from classical Greek to church Slavonic and Chancery Russian of the 16th-17th centuries), is teaching in Princeton University's Department of Slavic Languages and Literatures.

A world figure in religious scholarship, respected throughout Orthodox Christendom and hailed on his recent 75th birthday by such articulate leaders as the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Ecumenical Orthodox Patriarch in Constantinople, and the Archbishop of Athens and All Greece, he played a key role in one of the dramatic religious events of the 20th Century — the act of reconciliation of the Roman and Orthodox Churches on December 8, 1965. Observers of the Second Vatican Ecumenical Conference felt that Father Georges was the major figure "theologically" in easing the 900-year old schism in Christianity and setting the stage for continuing dialogues between Rome and Istanbul.

Florovsky, described by one historian as "the leading Russian participant in the ecumenical movement," has been a creative force in the movement for the past several decades. He was one of the first Orthodox theologians in the United States to take part in the National Council of Churches, in which he has held the post of vice-president. From 1938 to 1948, the fall he came to this country, he was a member of the "Provisional Council of the World Council of Churches in Formation" and over the years has been an acclaimed and long-working delegate to World Council gatherings throughout the world.

A kind of "universal man," whose prolific writings and on-going research traverse a multitude of disciplines, it is almost impossible to pinpoint Florovsky's field. He has made enduring contributions in the areas of ecclesiology, ecumenics, theology, Eastern spirituality, and the history of Russian religious thought. An admiring Princeton associate notes that "in his wide field he is unique in the world of scholarship — one of the kind who will not be replaced when he goes and one whose interests are all in areas of major concern and fresh inquiry. He is one of the last and most imposing links anywhere in the world with the scholarly and spiritual traditions of late Imperial Russia."

It was after the World Council's Assembly in 1948 in Amsterdam that Florovsky entered upon his new life in the New World, initially at St. Vladimir's Orthodox Theological Seminary in New York, then at Columbia University and, subsequently, in the Harvard Divinity School. A naturalized American citizen since 1954, he was called to Princeton in 1964 as Visiting Professor of Slavic Languages and Religion, Visiting Senior Fellow of the Council of the Humanities and Old Dominion Foundation Fellow — distinctions reserved only for scholars of the first rank.

For his markedly success in relating religious traditions to the sadly divided world of the 1960's; for his unending effort in helping create a "common mind" within the Christian Universe; for possessing the vast erudition and unfailing memory which make him an incomparable asset for his students and colleagues alike; he returns to TOWN TOPICS' cover as our nominee as

This Is Princeton

DEMOCRATS

Win. Princeton is always called a Republican town, but in 1968 . . . ?

For the first time in any history anyone can remember, Democrats captured all the local offices that were on the ballot.

In the Borough, where 73% of the registered voters voted, James Andrews with 2,011 votes and Mrs. Raymond F. Male with 1,978 defeated Michael Erdman with 1,914 and Foster Jacobs with 1,766. Mrs. Male will be the first woman on Council since Mrs. Bradford Locke in the 1930s.

Township, where 81% voted, James Floyd was high man with 3,172 followed by Thomas Hartmann with 3,074 defeating two incumbents, Mayor Carl C. Schafer Jr. with 2931 and Burton Peskin with 2840.

Not only that — Vice-President Humphrey polled over 600 more votes than Mr. Nixon in the strongly Republican Township and about the same number more than the Republican Presidential candidate in the Borough.

In the Fourth Congressional District race, Congressman Frank Thompson Jr's combined Borough-Township vote was 5,648 to Republican Sidney S. Sandy) Souter's 3,629. And Princeton Borough and Township are often called a Republican "island" in the Democratic sea of Mercer County! (Only the absentee ballots for Township Committee were available from the County Election Board on Wednesday Morning.)

George Wallace, by one of those quirks of any election year, polled the same number of resident votes in the Borough as he did in the Township — 129, for a total Princeton vote of 258.

Mr. Wallace's strenght in the Borough was in District Three — the same district that gave Mrs. Male and Mr. Andrews their highest totals in the entire Borough. He received 40 votes here, the most he received in any Princeton district.

Three is in the eastern part of the Borough, on the south side of Nassau, starting on the east side of Harrison.

The other Wallace district was Four, the traditional Democratic stronghold around the "tree" streets of Pine, Chestnut, Maple and Spruce. Mr. Wallace received 23 votes from residents of this district.

In District Six, where most of the Borough's black voters live, Mr. Wallace received one vote. Three voters in District Six cast ballots for Dick Gregory. Mr. Gregory's highest tally was nine votes each in District Two and Three. He received 49 Borough votes.

Who Voted How. One of the interesting things about the Borough election is that both Democrats, Mrs. Male and Mr. Andrews, received more votes in the traditionally Republican Districts One and Eight, than they did in District Four which is home country for Borough Democrats. (See tally box, page 2.)

They did not carry either One or Eight, but Mrs. Male was only two resident votes behind Mr. Jacobs in District One.

Democratic Congressman Thompson also was ahead in those Republican Districts One and Eight. In District One — which is almost all the western half of the Borough including University and Seminary — Mr. Thompson polled almost twice as many votes as his Republican challenger. In Eight, he received about 50 more. Mr. Souter did not carry a single Borough district.

Township. In the Township, citizens elected the first Democrat in ten years and doubled that preference to vote in two. Mr. Floyd becomes the first Negro to take a seat on the governing body of either Township or Borough.

The Republican Districts Two, Seven and Eight, went true to form and cast strong votes for Mr. Schafer and Mr. Peskin. These districts include Newlin and Battle Roads, Edgerstoune, Rosedale, Ridge view, Mansgrove, and they are almost always Republican.

Mr. Floyd and Mr. Hartmann found their greatest strength in District three the faculty district down by Lake Carnegie which includes McCosh Circle and the Harrison Street project. Each candidate received about three and one half times as many votes as

Mr. Peskin and Mr. Schafer.

District Four, around Jefferson Road, Moore Street, Ewing, Mt. Lucas and Terhune, is usually ripe for the Democrats and the two winning candidates carried it without difficulty, although they did not have the sweeping victory of District Three.

Mr. Floyd and Mr. Hartmann also carried the Township's District Six. This is the Township district that gave the most votes to George Wallace —33 and it makes an parallel with the Borough: in each municipality, winning Democrats carried the district that gave the most votes to Mr. Wallace. The second-highest Wallace vote was 19, in District Four—a strong Democratic district for the Township.

The Township's District One, an extension into Birch Avenue of the Borough's John Witherspoon District Six, gave three times as many votes to Hartmann and Floyd as to Schafer and Peskin.

Dick Gregory polled more Township than Borough votes: 61, with his highest total in the Faculty District Three.

Throughout Princeton, there were scattered write in votes for Eugene McCarthy.

In the two northern counties of the newly aligned Fourth District, Warren and Sussex, paper ballots are still used, and the tally was incomplete Wednesday morning. However, Mr. Souter conceded defeat before midnight Tuesday, and Rep. Thompson's return to Congress was expected to reflect a triumph of more than 15,000 votes.

Princeton likewise contributed to the margin of success of the two Democratic candidates for freeholder, Charles Farrington, Princeton attorney, led the race for the county governing body when he was accorded 63,845 votes. Arthur Sypek, an incumbent, was re-elected with a total of 61,280.

The two losers, Peter Rossi and Eugene Kalinowski, polled 53,587 and 50,294, respectively. A Republican victory in these races would have given the GOP control of the Board of Freeholders for the first time in a quarter-century.

The three bond issues, seeking to raise $337 million for public construction, $640 million for improved transportation and $12.5 million for low cost housing, were supported on a state-wide basis by a margin of about 2 to 1. The fourth public question, approving two-year sessions for the Legislature in place of the one-year policy that has governed until now, was also passed by a wide margin.

Vice-President Humphrey won Mercer County, 62,825 to 35,153 for Richard M. Nixon, but the latter was forced Wednesday as the victor in the race for the State's 17 electoral votes. His plurality was expected to be in the neighborhood of 30,000—about a fifth of pre-election GOP claims.

Both Gov. Richard J. Hughes and the State Democratic chairman, Robert J. Burkhardt, blamed defeat on the inroads made by Gov. George Wallace of Alabama. He polled 9% of New Jersey's popular vote.

GOP WINS LAWRENCE

Council-Manager Backed. The Republicans will control Lawrence Township for the first time in 20 years and the municipality will convert to a council-manager form of government in 1970, as the result of Tuesday's elections.

Democrat Lloyd A. Carver won, but the GOP took control of the five-man committee when his running-mate, interiors. Charles E. Connell, Jr. was defeated. Mr. Carver polled 4,160 votes and James A. Murphy Jr., the Republican winner, received 4,152.

The losers were Mr. Connell with 4,053 and Republican Thomas Mott with 3,865. The Democratic tax assessor, Joseph H. Martin, was returned to office when he defeated Paul K. Duble, the Republican candidate.

The referendum seeking approval of a change to the council-manager form of government was widely backed, win

THOMPSON WINS EASILY

Ahead by 23,805 in Mercer. Princeton and Mercer County contributed on Tuesday to another triumph for Democratic Congressman Frank Thompson Jr. He polled 70,262 votes in Mercer County to 47,457 for Sydney S. Souter, a plurality of 22,805.

NEW LOOK FOR THE BOROUGH? The Borough's heartland may look somewhat different if Borough Council passes the new zoning ordinance. Public hearing is Tuesday night. The shaded "RO 2" zone has been set aside for apartment-office buildings which can be six stories high, but must be set back 100 feet from any residential district. The "RO 1" is an apartment district, also, but not for six-story structures. In the Central Business District, the legal building height has been reduced from five to four stories.

TOPICS Of The Town

ZONING IS NEXT

Public Hearing Tuesday. The Borough's new zoning ordinance comes up for battle and public hearing before mayor and council next Tuesday at 8 in Borough Hall.

One controversial provision may already be smoothed out and an amendment ready by the time Council meets Tuesday. The proposed change would let an owner re-build any building to the same size, whether it was destroyed by fire or by the owner's bulldozer.

"The idea would be to allow for hardship cases before they exist," says Councilman Alan Carrick, who is also on the Planning Board, "and also to allow reconstruction after old buildings had been razed."

As the new ordinance now reads, a home-owner whose house became "non-conforming" under the new ordinance, wouldn't have been allowed to build again if his non-conforming house burned down.

The suggested change is still under review and is scheduled for further discussion this Wednesday and Thursday.

Meanwhile, another controversial part of the new ordinance is still controversial. Three developers hold building permits that will be invalid if the ordinance is passed in its present form because a section of the proposed law cancels all building permits as of the publication date of the new ordinance—October 23.

Ordinance Challenged. One builder, Timothy Sheehan, has decided to challenge the section. He has started digging for the office building he has long planned for the corner of Nassau and Markham Road and he has said he will take the Borough to court if he has to.

The new zoning law specifies that "substantial construction" must be under way if the building permit is to remain valid. Thomas Cawley, Borough engineer, has told Mr. Sheehan and other builders that this means footings installed, the foundation of the building starting to go up with the building outline in evidence or the concrete forms in place. Mr. Sheehan's building did not comply by this definition as of October 23.

Another unhappy developer is Edward Faroe of Princeton Plaza, which has been planned for construction at 360 Nassau, near Harrison. Mr. Faroe said this week that he and his partners haven't yet decided whether to challenge the zoning law. "We've had a long, hard pull to get our financing arranged," Mr. Faroe explained "and just as we had a verbal commitement from a large lending institution, this zoning law came along, and of course any bank would pull back in face of this."

Mr. Faroe said he had expected the zoning law to be introduced in November, rather than in October. He estimated that Princeton Plaza's investment in the property is about $100,000. It was purchased in 1966.

Mr. Faroe also says that in the new ordinance, half the property is in the Neighborhood-Business zone of "Jug town" and half in the Residence-Office zone, with substantially different requirements for side lines, and so on.

Criticism Softened. One critic of the new ordinance has softened his position. Ridgely Cook, of Edmund Cook & Company, the real estate firm, says that if the proposed rebuilding amendment goes through, "the ordinance is not too bad."

"We thought the reduction from a floor area ratio of 3 to 1.5 would kill us," Mr. Cook says, "but actually parking is the greatest restriction and floor area ratio is really secondary."

Mr. Cook wants parking garages, with parking spaces allocated to buildings already existing in the block where the garages are built. He is afraid of some future situation in which political favoritism might determine who gets the spaces.

He is also disturbed about the economics of the proposed middle income apartments. "How can you have apartments on top of these six-story buildings without almost total subsidy?" he asks.

MISCHIEF NIGHT REPORT "Quiet," Say the Police. It was the quietest one in recent years," said Chief Peter J. McCrohan, commenting on last week's mischief night.

"I want to compliment the youth of the town," he added. "We had no real problems. I'm glad to be able to report that."

Township police echoed the chief. "We had the usual things—soapings and egg throwings but overall, it was pretty quiet," said Detective Samuel Bianco.

Specifically, in the Borough, in addition to egg throwings and leaf fires, cars seemed to be the main target. A car parked in the drive at 33 Lilac Lane, owned by David Erdman, was sprayed with white paint, while another owned by a Trenton resident who was parked next to the Princeton Playhouse had its windshield broken. A radio antenna and rear fender of two other cars were damaged. Chief McCrohan reported, and stones put in a gas tank of a car on Park Place.

A piece of asphalt was thrown through a rear window at 73 Stanworth. On Hallowe'en night, a storm window in a Stanworth apartment was broken, as well as a window pane at 129 Broadmead. Near Hinkson's on Nassau Street, a trash can was set afire.

The temperature readings which have been running well above normal (Saturday produced one in the mid 70s) are about at an end, the Man reports.

Not only are they expected to drop down for the next few days, but a fair amount of precipitation is expected. Rain is a possibility both Thursday and Friday, with Sunday showers a further likelihood.

GREAT ROAD TO OPEN If Weather Holds. The Great Road will re-open to traffic again this weekend, if the weather stays clear so construction crews can continue to work.

Township engineer Frank Quinby told Township Committee Monday night that additional work remained to be done, but that motorists could start using the road anyway.

The Traffic Safety Committee wants a traffic light at the intersection of Route 206 and Terhune Road. The state, according to Henry J. Frank of Traffic Safety, will instill a light there as soon as Township Committee promises that Valley Road will eventually be cut off so that it ends at Witherspoon Street.

spoon and Route 206 — probably won't be wiped out until the new Township Hall is built, said Committeeman John Wallace Monday night, and he added that a new Township Hall won't be completed for at least two years. He said that he himself would like to close off that section of Valley right now.

Who's going to pay for sidewalk repair — the Township or the property-owner — is still undetermined, but the new ordinance introduced Monday night has the same basic intent as the previous sidewalk ordinance: the home-owner is to be responsible, one hundred percent, for maintenance and repair.

Committee introduced the ordinance to get it out for public discussion again (public hearing December 2), but Committeeman William Wilson, who was absent, notified his colleagues that he opposes the ordinance.

Mr. Wallace said that no other communities surveyed by Committee, accept any responsibility for repair and only one (Princeton Borough) shares the cost of sidewalk construction in the first place.

Transco Again. Transcontinental Pipeline has an obligation under its contract with the Township to cart away rock and excess dirt and to leave the land as was before the bulldozer, Township attorney Gordon Griffin made this assurance to William Cherry, 24 Dempsey Avenue, who expressed apprehension about the present condition of Transco's diggings.

"This is absolute — Transco has no option," Mr. Griffin stated. He added that when it comes to restoring ecological balance, Transco will listen to experts and then decide whether various procedures are feasible.

Airport Service? Air Brook Service, Inc. asked Committee for permission to run limousine service between Princeton Township and the airports at Newark and Teterboro.

Firm representatives told Committee they expect the state's Public Utility Commission to set a date soon for a hearing. The company needs municipal consent before the hearing, from the towns it plans to serve.

It does not, however, need such consent from Newark. Air Brook's spokesman said a P.U.C. ruling allows its limousines to operate within the boundaries of Newark Airport without Newark's consent.

Limousine fare from Princeton to Newark Airport would be $8 per person, $12 per couple and $4 for students who register with Air Brook's office. Limousines would leave hourly, operating 12 or 13 hours a day.

In the Township, the terminal would be the Princeton Inn and the route would go along Alexander Street to Route One. In the Borough, the firm hopes to obtain permission from Borough Council to use the Nassau Inn and Borough streets.

At present, New Jersey New York Airport Limousine operates between Princeton and neighboring communities, and Kennedy and LaGuardia.

Querying 14 property-owners on the north side of Valley Road about their desire for a sidewalk, Administrator Joseph R. Nini found four who didn't and one who was cagey, but probably opposed. The four in favor were the ones who had sent Committee a petition last month requesting a walk.

TWO CEREMONIES SET

To Honor Adlai Stevenson. Two Princeton classes, almost a half century apart, will participate in two ceremonies this weekend honoring the late Adlai E. Stevenson, former U. S. Ambassador to the United Nations, twice Democratic candidate for president and a member of the Princeton Class of 1922.

On Saturday at 10:30 a.m., a bust of Mr. Stevenson, the work of award-winning sculptor Elizabeth Gordon Chandler, of Old Lyme, Conn., will be dedicated in the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs. The bust has been given to the University by members of the class of 1922.

The ceremonies will include remarks by George F. Kennan, Princeton 1925, retired career diplomat and a member of the Institute for Advanced Study; University President Robert F. Gobeen; and William E. Stevenson (no relation), class of 1922, President Emeritus of Oberlin College and formerly Ambassador to the Philippines.

Among those expected to attend are the statesman's sister, Mrs. Ernest L. Ives, of Bloomington, Ill., and his oldest son, Adlai, III, treasurer of the State of Illinois; New Jersey Governor and Mrs. Richard J. Hughes; and former New Jersey Governor Robert B. Meyer.

Inscribed on a marble pedestal base will be a quotation from "Call to Greatness," the published edition of the Godkin Lectures that Ambassador Stevenson gave at Harvard in 1954: "And now we shall have to address ourselves to the unending tasks of greatness. For the quest for peace and security is not a day's or a decade's work. For us it may be everlasting." It summarizes, a class of '22 spokesman explains, "both our classmate's work and the work of the Woodrow Wilson School.

The previous afternoon, Friday at 4:30, under the leadership of members of the Class of 1969, the University will dedicate Stevenson Hall, a student - initiated, non - selective academic and social complex on Prospect Avenue. Originally envisioned as an alternative to the eating clubs, Stevenson Hall occupies the buildings of the former Court and Key and Seal Clubs.

TEENS GIVE $250

To Youth Fund. Teen Unity, an organization of young leaders from the various Princeton schools, presented $250 to the Princeton Youth Fund at Friday evening's campaign dinner. Simeon Moss gave the funds to Tommy Griggs, president of the Center's Youth Board, for activities at the Youth Center.

The Youth Fund is appealing to the Princeton community for assistance in raising $50,000 for the programs of the Youth Center and Youth Associates. There are money-raising projects underway by the young people and adults actively involved in the two organizations which will raise an estimated $10-15,000 of the goal.

The Princeton Youth Fund Board has been established to give advice and assistance in the campaign for funds. Co-chaired by Mayor Henry Patterson of the Borough, and Mayor Carl Schafer of the Township, the board consists of Mrs. J. P. Cleaver, William Scheide, Mrs. Abram Spanel, Douglas McClure, Mrs. J. Richardson Dilworth, Kenneth Michael, Mrs. Robert Meyner, Harold Logan and the Rev. Harold Thomas.

Young people reported on activities at the kick-off dinner; the Youth Associates' Bahama trips, work on an Indian reservation, the leadership training course, and support of a folk singer and drama by its Impromptu Players.

Youth Center teenagers spotlighted the summer trip to Camp Jubilee, a karate exhibition and presentations by two members of the Association of Black Collegians at Princeton University on the photography workshop and program innovations. There was an exhibit by the Workshop sponsored by the Princeton Art Association.

COEDUCATION ENDORSED

By Princeton Faculty. Some 175 faculty members at Princeton University passed a statement Monday calling for "affirmative action as soon as possible" to admit women to Princeton.

Only a handful of those present voiced their dissent with the resolution, drawn up by mathematics professor Harold W. Kuhn, chairman of the Faculty Committee on Policy, who has forwarded the faculty's endorsement of coeducation to the board of trustees.

The board is currently making its own studies of the education of women at Princeton, in the process of reaching a decision on the coeducation report of economics professor Gardner Patterson, who in September recommended that 1,000 girls be added to the undergraduate body "as soon as the necessary funds can be raised."

University president Robert F. Goheen last week added some fuel to the fire with a statement that women could be admitted to Princeton in the fall of 1970, if the trustees approve the plan early in 1969.

Dr. Goheen said the number of girls which could be admitted initially was still uncertain, but that he would anticipate a gradual buildup over several years until the women represented a quarter of the undergraduate body.

TWO SPEEDERS FINED

In Borough Court. Two Princeton drivers were fined for speeding Monday by Borough Judge Theodore T. Tams Jr.

DEAR PATRONS AND FRIENDS OF TAVERNWOOD BEAUTY MANOR;

Due to circumstances beyond our control and comprehension, some of our employees have been lured away from us. Rumors have been and still are being spread around that we are going out of business, and/or selling our business. This is not true. I FEEL THIS IS UNFAIR AND UNETHICAL, and any further rumors said, will only be said to justify guilt. We are continuing our usual fine service, at our same location. We take this means to express sincere gratitude for your continued patronage, and to assure you that we will continue to provide the same fine service as here-to-fore.

Our business has been built on integrity, ability, and a genuine desire to provide only the finest of services. I intend to see that there will be no changes made in this policy.

We appreciate all the loyalty and understanding that has been shown in the past week. We are looking forward to the future with faith and confidence in the continued and renewed friendships, as well as the opportunity to serve you as you wish to be served.

We remain faithfully yours,

Archimedes Bernard

$20. Both pleaded guilty. A careless driving violation cost John B. Huntoon, 39, 6 Doran Avenue, $15.

In criminal court, Paul W. Johnson Jr. 25, address unknown, was fined $10 and $10 court costs for leaving the Colonial Restaurant, Witherspoon and Spring Streets, without paying his bill. Owner Demetro F. Romeo was the complainant.

Three charges of passing worthless checks at the Nassau Pharmacy against William Marshall, 18, 69 Clay Street, were adjourned for a week to allow the defendant to obtain a lawyer.

State Halts Six. Six Princeton area drivers have had their licenses suspended by the Division of Motor Vehicles for exceeding speed or point limits.

Among the four charged with speeding were two who were convicted in Connecticut under a reciprocity agreement. They are Richard P. Meehan, 39, 152 Clover Lane, and Norman A. Brady, 49, 156 Hunt Drive, each of whom lost his license for one month. Ira D. Silverman, 23, Manning Lane, Lawrenceville, and Lawrence J. O'Rourke, 35, Kendall Park, received suspensions of 30 days each.

John J. Carafo, 20, Line Road, Belle Mead, and Theresa Saltzman, 58, Mill Road, Dutch Neck, lost their licenses for two and one months respectively for exceeding the point limit.

BIDS INVITED

By Post Office. Truck rental firms, independents and individual truck owners are invited to submit their bids for Christmas hire by the Princeton Post Office. Postmaster John Dilworth said bids should be submitted not later than 2 p.m., Monday, November 18.

POLICE ARREST YOUTH

For Indecent Language Use. A 17-year-old Kingston youth was arrested by Pfc. Charles Harris at 6:40 Saturday night, after he allegedly used indecent language and took a swing at the officer in front of the A&S Luncheonette, 86 Nassau Street.

He was taken to Mercer County Jail and later released to his parents. Chief Peter J. McCrohan reported that the charge of juvenile delinquency will be handled by authorities in Trenton.

Chief McCrohan described the youth as "an habitual loiterer on Nassau Street. He lives down there," he said. Pfc. Harris and Patrolmen Thomas Michaud and Douglas Watson were in the area to investigate the report of an accident opposite Hinkson's.

CAR FOUND STRIPPED

Off Poor Farm Road. A 1966 Pontiac GTO that had been stolen nine days earlier from a Fords resident was discovered by Pfc. David Potts of the Township police Sunday on a private lane some 500 feet off Poor Farm Road.

Police said the car had been stripped of virtually everything but the motor. "They probably didn't have time to take that" said Detective Samuel Bianco. Gone, however, were the car's wheels, tires, transmission, steering wheel, gear shift, universal joint and radio.

Police identified the owner as Fredrick Picco of Fords. The car had been stolen from his driveway between 1 and 4 the afternoon of October 23.

Two months ago, Township police discovered another car that had been stripped in the same location. On that occasion, even the motor was taken.

STORES PICKETED

In California Grape Dispute. In a effort to educate the consumer about problems of the California farm worker, members of the Princeton Citizens Committee for the California Grape Boycott picketed in front of three Princeton supermarkets Saturday.

Numbering about 50 persons, including Princeton University and High School students and residents, the committee carried signs and distributed leaflets in front of Davidson's, the A & P and Acme urging shoppers not to purchase California table grapes, Kitt Sawitsky, a University sophomore from Roslyn, L. I., chairman of the organization emphasized that the group is not trying to pressure the stores to discontinue carrying the grapes, but trying to reach the consumer.

Champion of the movement in California is Caesar Chavez, who organized the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee in attempt to establish collective bargaining with the growers. Because the growers will not recognize the union, it has promoted a national boycott of the grapes. Wine grapes are not involved.

Mr. Sawitsky commented that farm workers in California are not covered by the National Labor Relations Act and therefore have no legal channel to present their grievances.

BIRTHS

Twenty-one Born. Ten girls and 11 boys were born last week in Princeton Hospital.

Girls were born to Mr. and Mrs. Larry Sumpass, 36 Faculty Road, October 26; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Siegman, 103 Taylor Terrace, Hopewell, and Dr. and Mrs. Thomas La Ganga, 6 Scott Avenue, Cranbury, both on October 26; Mr. and Mrs. David Billington, 109 Broadmead; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Davino, Highway 33, Hightstown, and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Lantier, 357 Stockton Street, Hightstown, all on October 28; Mr. and Mrs. Karl Neurenther, Old Road, Princeton; Mr. and

DISCUSSION PLANNED

By High School PTA. A panel discussion on the development of new projects and methods in education, sponsored by the Princeton High School PTA, will be held Monday, November 18, featuring William H. Enders, Thomas Hartmann and Ronald Buhler.

Mr. Enders, a graduate of M.I.T. and director of Advanced Product Planning for RCA, will speak on the contributions of industry to educational innovation. He has worked in the fields of systems engineering, operations research, market research sales and planning.

Mr. Hartmann, currently heading innovations in curriculum at Livingston College of Rutgers, is a former headmaster of the Hun School and the Princeton Day School. A 1948 graduate of Princeton University, he will discuss "Innovations Outside the Schools."

Dr. Buhler, director of the expanding Princeton Computer Center, will discuss the use of computers in education. A graduate of Oberlin College, he has studied music, psychology and statistics, and is a former staff member of the Educational Testing Service.

The program, to begin at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium, will be moderated by David Loye, a member of the professional staff at ETS and a major contributor to John Pfeifer's recent book, "New Look in Education."

JUNIOR MUSEUM OPENS

In New Headquarters. The Princeton Junior Museum will open at 10 a.m. Saturday, in new storefront headquarters at 175 Nassau Street, featuring a wide-ranging collection of objects loaned by Princeton children, who have been visiting the museum for several weeks.

Open without charge to the Princeton community, the museum is entirely supported by voluntary contributions. A fund drive for this year's $3,000 budget has begun with a mailing to former contributors.

Annual attendance since the museum first began in 1964 has averaged 5,000, including trips to the exhibits by area school classes. The doors are open Saturday and Sunday each week from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Membership forms are available at the museum.

RED CROSS MAKES PLANS

For Servicemen's Christmas. The Princeton Chapter of the American Red Cross, with the financial help of the Princeton Rotary Club, has set four programs to brighten the Christmas holidays of Vietnam servicemen.

Some 200 "Ditty Bags" were shipped last month to area soldiers, packed with a variety of items. Mrs. Gardner Allen headed the effort, supervising a corps of volunteer sewers and a group of women at Leisure World. The Container Corporation of America packed the filled bags for shipment to Vietnam.

Five-minute phone calls from Vietnam to the United States are being arranged by Rotary member William Cosby, available to all residents of the Princeton Red Cross and United Fund area. Families should register with the Princeton Red Cross, 924-2404, to receive the call during the holidays.

Mrs. Charles Frank Jr. is directing efforts in the Red Cross "Voice From Home" program, through which tape recorded messages will be sent from Princeton area families to relatives in Vietnam. Recording dates at the Chapter House may be arranged by telephone.

Greeting cards from the Princeton Red Cross will be sent to all area residents in military service. Those with relatives in the military are urged to put their names on the chapter's list.

DRIVER TO BE HONORED

By West Windsor PTA. Horace Reed, Rabbit Hill Road, West Windsor Township, a school bus driver in the Princeton area for 35 years, will be honored on his retirement next Wednesday by the West Windsor PTA.

After beginning to drive in 1932, to supplement his farm income in the midst of the Depression, Mr. Reed drove about 60 miles each day. During World War II he took women each morning to the Parachute Division of the Hightstown Rug Company, and returned to the Princeton area to pick up school children.

Operating two buses at first, with another driver for the second vehicle, Mr. Reed has driven alone since 1944, when he lost his bid for one route. In 35 years he has put 100,000 miles on each of three buses.

The most serious accident Mr. Reed has been involved in as a bus driver resulted in a ring part time jobs.

torn muscle, as a car passed the stopped school bus in rainy weather and struck a girl.

In retirement, Mr. Reed plans a long trip throughout the United States, accompanied by his wife, who sometimes covered for him at the wheel during emergencies.

JOB ROSTER FORMED

By College Women. About 100 Princeton women have formed the Professional Roster for Women, a group which registers the qualifications of college-educated and professionally trained women seek

Dr. Anna L. Rose Hawkes, retired dean of Mills College and past president of the American Association of University Women, is serving as executive director of the Roster. The group's first meeting will be held Monday in the library lounge of the Institute for Advanced Study at 8 p.m.

The Roster is being organized on a permanent basis this fall. The board of directors at large are Mrs. Marvin L. Goldberger, Mrs. Harold Sin, Mrs. Robert Zenowich, and Dr. Jean Simmons.

Committee chairmen chosen include Mrs. Bernard W. Dwork, finance; Dr. Hawkes and Mrs. William P. Starr, Jr., planning and policy; Mrs. Immanuel Lichtenstein, education and job development; Mrs. R. Sherr, volunteer work; Mrs. Danforth L. Hall, registrar, and Mrs. Robert Greiff, publicity.

Schools' Wednesday Program Explained

Unleash teaching ability that's the best way to improve a school system." The observation was made by Dr Nathaniel Boonin, 230 Ridge view Road, at the school board meeting last week when everybody began once again to talk about those free Wednesday afternoons that will start on January 6

Although "Wednesdays" have been discussed at school board meetings now for many months, parents still say they are confused.

One mother, for example, was alarmed because she thought there would be no insurance coverage for children and no more school crossing guards on those Wednesday afternoons.

The school board assured her that Wednesday 1 p.m. closing are no different from any other dismissal times Insurance WILL cover the children in their activities, said William Evans, secretary of the board.

A Major Opportunity. Dr. Patty McPherson, says that the Wednesday program offers the best possible way to improve the school system in an orderly way.

On Wednesday afternoons, groups of teachers will gather together. They may talk about education philosophy ("should we do more in vocational education"?) and thus may lead to a discussion of vocational courses ("should we teach advanced electronics at the high school?") and the group may then decide to look over some electronics textbooks and then agree to work out a team teaching arrangement and a half day program involving local industries.

While the teachers are molding a new project they will at the same time, be increasing their own understanding of the way children develop, their own understanding of modern life and the way it relates to schools, and their own understanding of the learning process.

Citizens of the community should be directly involved in school planning, too, Dr. McPherson says. That's another important part of "Wednesdays." About 50 residents of the town will join the teachers in these discussions and in some cases, students will be asked to come around, too.

When Princeton residents themselves are participating, there will be better communicat on between the town and the schools, a more critical review of current programs and also a longer list of experts in many fields for schools to draw on.

The actual subjects of Wednesday discussion will not be decided on specifically; they will be developed by teachers and citizens as the program moves on.

Free Time Essential. When schools close on Wednesdays at 1 p.m., children will either have free time (Dr. Boonin said at the board meeting that "children today need free time to wander around doing nothing . . .") or they can sign up for an activity: the Study Center's tutoring program; new projects promised by the Youth Center; family-style movies at the Playhouse; specific programs arranged by the public library; visits to industries and business firms or classes in art, music and dance.

Teachers planning "Wednesdays" warn that it may not be possible to provide programs at school for every child who wants them because so many teachers may be involved in the discussion sessions. Children who need a particular program will be given priority.

If parents can't afford to pay for some activity, Title I money will pay the fee.

Cost of "Wednesdays": $1,000 from Title I money; $9,185 from Title III money and $1,630 from the budget (late afternoon buses at $700; postage at $230; paper, stencils, ink, etc. at $200 and $200 for typewriter).

Dr. McPherson says it's much cheaper to do school planning in the Wednesday afternoon way than to do it separately in the summer.

YWCA AT WORK

On International Festival. About 12 women have been working at the home of Mrs. Peter Woodrow in preparation for this year's 20th YWCA International Festival.

The festival, scheduled from 10-5 on Saturday, November 16 and 1-5 p.m., Sunday, November 17, on Stockton Street, will have "Drumthwacket" as its setting.

Among the decorations made by the women of the workshop are wreaths created from tiny pine cones and beach nuts with dried flower remnants from the 18th Century Bouquet. Also, German drinking straws have been braided into hanging hearts, or cut into stars for tree ornaments.

In addition, the ladies have transformed egg cartons into

"THE TRUMPETER." It's really Carol Stoddard, artist and print-maker, at home in her new "Trumpeteer" gallery, 20 Nassau.

BUSINESS In Princeton

NOW: A GALLERY

"Trumpeteer" Opens. People who think art and business don't mix should stop and count the enterprises now owned and managed by Carol Stoddard, young graphic artist who has just opened the town's newest gallery, "The Trumpeteer" at 20 Nassau.

An artist all her life Carol Stoddard started her Carolingian Press in 1948 and brought it to Princeton with her when she moved to town in 1953 ("Carolingian," by the way refers not to the owner's first name, but to the renaissance of Charlemagne's time).

The Carolingian Press "grew like topsy," its owner says, still breathless. At the plant office, 12 Nassau Street, the Press specializes in fine design and quality printing in both letterpress and offset. The chief, sole and only designer is Carol Stoddard.

Here in Princeton the Press operated from the Stoddard home, where its founder also held classes in lithography and wood cutting for qualified artists who were allowed to use the presses right there in the house.

(Meantime, in her spare time, teacher was also teaching printing and print making at Princeton University.)

In 1966, when the Carolingian Press moved to 12 Nassau, the home-held classes were expanded into the Graphics Workshop, a separate corporation from the Carolingian Press and the core of the Stoddard enterprises.

In the new, larger quarters, two offset presses, a proof press and a job press.

This month, The Carolingian Press will install a 28 x 50 inch etching press, which will be used in addition to the present small etching press.

CHAIRMAN APPOINTED

For RCA Committee. Humboldt W. Leverenz, 35 Westcott Road, has been appointed chairman of the RCA Educational Aid Committee, which directs the corporation's scholarship and fellowship grants and contributions to education and institutions.

Mr. Leverenz is now a staff vice president in the RCA patents and licensing activity at the David Sarnoff Research Center in Princeton. He previously served two years as staff vice president of research and business evaluation and was associate director of RCA Laboratories for five years.

After graduating Stanford University in 1930, Mr. Leverenz studied physics and chemistry as an Exchange Fellow of the Institute of International Education at the University of Muenster, Westphalia, Germany. The RCA executive joined the company as a chemical physicist in 1931.

Mr. Leverenz has authored numerous scientific articles and is a member of the Materials Advisory Board in the National Research Council, the National Academies of Sciences and Engineering, and the Conference Committee of the National Conference on the Administration of Research. The newly appointed chairman also serves as a Fellow of several

SYSTEMEDICS MOVING

To Airesearch Park. Construction of a new, 10,000 square foot, two-story building for Systemedics Inc., 20 Nassau Street, has begun in Princeton Airesearch Park on Route 206.

President William Krause said that the building would serve as the main office for the nationwide firm which has offices in Pittsburg, Washington, Indiana, Buffalo, San Francisco and a computer center in Los Angeles. It will also house an IBM 360-40 computer, described by Mr. Krause as a mid-range computer, and serve as the firm's Eastern data processing center. Forty five employees will work at the new processing center.

Systemedics' business is medical data processing. Primarily, it services hospitals and private medical agencies which find themselves flooded by paperwork and forms associated with Medicare, Blue Cross, and medical insurance plans. The volume has reached the point where only computers can handle the flow.

At the moment, Systemedics is concerned with streamlining bookkeeping problems. But Mr. Krause pointed out that in just recording all the information required by the forms, Systemedics has "programmed in" a tremendous amount of parallel information not previously available on a nationwide scope.

Designed by New Haven architect Ronald Noe, the Systemedics building is expected to be completed by March. It is the first tenant of Airesearch Park which is located on land owned by Princeton Aviation.

Owner Webster B. Todd Jr., president of Princeton Aviation and Airesearch Park, said that he expects to break ground sometime next spring for another firm about the size of Systemedics. "Right now, I'm talking to four people," he said.

PR DIRECTOR NAMED

For Kubela & Dragoset. Richard M. Wieland, former assistant director of advertising and public relations for Intercontinental Trading Corporation in Somerville, has joined Kubela & Dragoset, Inc., 245 Nassau Street, as director of public relations.

A journalism graduate of Rutgers University and a resident of North Brunswick, Mr. Wieland will direct expanded publications and public relations program for the firm's clients.

Before taking his post at ITC, Mr. Wieland was a member of the advertising staff at the Boy Scouts of American National Headquarters in North Brunswick, and was previously editor of "The Sentinel," a Middlesex County weekly newspaper.

MONEY BOOKLET OFFER

To Area Women. The Princeton Savings and Loan Association is now distributing a 24-page booklet designed to give women "Helpful hints on managing your money," according to president Charles A. Lennon.

Published by the Savings and Loan Foundation of Washington, D. C., the booklet includes information on spending and savings plans, buying on credit, budget planning, the high cost of children and buying a home. It is available free of charge at Princeton Savings, 19 Chambers Street.

RADAR CONTRACT GIVEN

By U.S. Army to RCA. The U. S. Army has awarded the first production contract for an all-solid-state military radar system to the RCA Missile and Surface Radar Division in Moorestown, N. J.

The $578,000 contract given by the U.S. Army Electronic Command involves the construction of light-weight, hand-held tactical radar units. The small radars are to be used to detect men and vehicles under low visibility conditions caused by darkness, fog or rain.

Several thousands of hours of testing by RCA and the armed services preceded the final awarding of the contract. RCA has also supplied units of the radar to other government agencies for added tests and evaluation.

News Of The CHURCHES

$278,200 IS GOAL

Of First Church Canvass. A 1969 budget of $278,200 has been proposed for First Presbyterian Church by the stewardship committee and the Session.

"If the Every Member Canvass reaches or exceeds its goals," the church publication "First" states, "this budget will be presented to the congregation for approval. If the canvass falls short of its goals, the church will modify the budget, cutting where cuts are possible. In this way, the congregation will be able to demonstrate the support of the church with its pledges in advance."

The church's growing involvement in mission work, ranging from Christian education programs within the congregation to social concerns in the community and on state, national and international levels, is reflected in the increased budgets over the past few years.

The goal for 1967 was $228,200 and an additional $50,000 was raised in February of that year as the first-year contribution to the denomination's $50 Million Fund. In 1968 the goal was $273,469.

The membership of First Presbyterian is at an all-time high of 1,850, an increase of about 900 members in the past six years. "First" reported to the congregation this month that the total pledging units to the budget represent some 1,107 members, with an average pledge of $280 per family.

"Based on the median income level for the Princeton area, which is very high, total giving is less than 2 percent of after-tax income. It is the church's hope that members will figure their giving on a percentage basis and increase their church giving. . ."

The new budget represents an increase of services in all areas, the paper said, "because new life calls for new effort, new support, new dedication.

"The areas of increase reflect the church's increased involvement in certain areas of service. The largest increase, $9,450, in general missions, reflects the congregation's Christian concern for the poor of the world. The second increase in the ministry of Christian education, $5,250, shows concern for the Christian upbringing of young people in First Church.

The other increases are in the areas of worship, pastoral care, administration and service facilities, representing a less than 10 percent increase over 1968, First stated.

The 1969 budget apportions 34% to community, state, nation and world service; 11% to worship, 9% to pastoral care, 13% for service facilities; 14% to administration 19% to Christian education.

The Every Member Canvass will be held on Sunday, November 17. A dinner at the church this Sunday evening will preface the training session for canvassers.

ISOLATIONISM SEEN

In American Mood. A surgeon-missionary, Dr. Kenneth M. Scott, will discuss "The American Dilemma and the Foreign Missionary Enterprise" in an illustrated lecture this Sunday at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

Director of the Christian Medical College and Hospital in Ludhiana, Punjab, India, Dr. Scott will comment on the new isolation he senses in the American mood today and its long-range effects in missionary and diplomatic enterprises abroad. The lecture, scheduled for 7 p.m., is preceeded by a family night supper at 6:15.

Dr. Scott, born in China where his parents were Presbyterian missionaries, was chief of surgery and acting superintendent of the Presbyterian Hospital in Taegu, Korea from 1953 to 1957. He was professor of surgery at the Yonsei University Medical College, Seoul from 1958 until assuming his present assignment in 1963.

In addition to his special fields of thoracic and plastic surgery, he was director of Korea Church World Service's tuberculosis control project, a program treating 10,000 patients yearly in 16 clinics throughout Korea.

PUBLIC LECTURE SET

By Christian Scientist A former concert pianist, Grace Bemis Curtis, will give a Christian Science lecture at 3:30 p.m. this Sunday in Alexander Hall. Her topic is "Loving to Live."

Before devoting full time to the healing ministry of Christian Science, Miss Curtis was a concert pianist and music teacher. She studied at the Eastman School of Music, Rochester, and the New York School for Music and Fine Arts in New York. She also studied privately with two students of Franz List.

A lifelong Christian Scientist, Miss Curtis is a teacher of Christian Science and a member of the Board of Lecturership of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston. Members of this board give lectures throughout the world.

The free lecture will last about an hour. A nursery will be provided at 16 Bayard Lane.

TIMES ARE CHANGING

"Kyrie" in Primal Rhythm. The Mind Garage, a five-man rock group from the University of West Virginia, returns to the University Chapel on Sunday to participate in a 2:30 p.m. "Electric Mass."

It is expected that the band will sing the Kyrie, Gloria in Excelcis, the Nicene creed, the offertory, "People Get Ready," the Lord's Prayer, the Breaking of the Bread, "Slop in the Name of Love and the Gloria Processional. Arrangements stress a heartbeat primal rhythm and what is termed "consecutive tone." Members play guitars, drums and organ.

The communion service will follow the new liturgy of the Episcopal Church, with the Rev. Michael Paine, Episcopal chaplain at West Virginia, as celebrant. Dean Earnest Gordon and the Rev. Mr. Paine will preach a dialogue sermon.

Last May, the Mind Garage drew a capacity audience to the chapel for a similar Electric Mass. The service has also been offered in New York and Washington.

Thanksgiving Plans

The Rev. Kenneth S. Dannenhauer of Calvary Baptist Church president of the Princeton's Pastors' Association, has announced that the annual community Thanksgiving service will again be held in Princeton University Chapel at 11 on Thanksgiving Day.

The offering, as in the past, will be used to support the Princeton Hospital chaplaincy, which ministers to some 500 patients and their families.

40TH ANNIVERSARY PROGRAM of the Senior Ushers Board of Mount Pisgah A.M.E. Church will be held at 3 this Sunday with 15-year-old minister David Ballard (seated center) as guest preacher. Alfred O. Campbell (left) is board president, and Robert E. Bandolph, program chairman. Standing are the Rev. I. Ballard of Bethlehem Baptist Church, Trenton, and Mrs. Ballard, parents of the young speaker. The family program will feature Dennis Alexander, 10, of Princeton, a talented singer of spirituals. The program is open to the public.

LECTURE SERIES SET

On Christian World Mission. Three public lectures will be given next week at Princeton Theological Seminary by the Rev. Dr. T. Watson Street, executive secretary of the Board of World Missions of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. His main topic will be "Some Current Concerns for the Christian World Mission."

Dr. Street's lecture at 7:45 p.m. on Monday is titled "How Do We Respond to Right Wing Rigidity in an Overseas Sister Church?" He will discuss at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday "Does the Uniqueness of Christian Faith Weaken the Church's Effort to Serve All Humanity."

On Wednesday, November 12, at 7:45 p.m., his topic is "Are Christians More Provincial than Non-Christians?" All lectures will be given in Miller Chapel.

Dr. Street, an Alahaman, holds theological degrees from Louisville Presbyterian Seminary and Union Seminary. He represents his denomination on the Consultation on Church Union and is the author of "The Story of Southern Presbyterians" among other books.

RUMMAGE SALE LISTED

By Pennington Methodist Church. A combined rummage and bake sale will be held next Saturday, November 16, at the United Methodist Church, South Main Street, Pennington.

On sale between 9 and 2 p.m. will be clothing, household articles, sporting goods and white elephants. The rummage sale is being sponsored by the church's young couples club; the bake sale by the Junior Youth Fellowship.

Co-chairmen are Mrs. Shirley Griffin, 896-1512, and Mrs. Rose Franke, 737-3237.

"THE CHURCH IN EGYPT"

Is Speaker's Topic. The Rev. Dr. John Thompson, formerly of the faculty of the Evangelical Seminary, Cairo," will speak at the first fall missions program and supper at Princeton United Methodist Church, scheduled for 5:30 this Sunday. He will discuss "The Church in Egypt."

Dr. Thompson was born in Egypt, the son of missionaries, was educated at Princeton University, Pittsburgh Seminary and Johns Hopkins University. He taught at the Evangelical Seminary for 19 years and is now with the American Bible Society.

DR. McCORD TO REPORT

On Uppsala Session. President James I. McCord of Princeton Theological Seminary will discuss the fourth assembly of the World Council of Churches, held in July in Uppsala, Sweden, at the fall luncheon of the Women's Association on Monday at First Presbyterian Church.

Dr. McCord was chairman of the conference section that dealt with "The Holy Spirit and the Catholicity of the Church."

The luncheon meeting is open to the public. Tables will be served at noon, with the program following at 1 p.m. Reservations may be made by calling the church office (924-0103).

BULLETIN NOTES

The Harvest Home Dinner, an annual event at Witherspoon Street Presbyterian Church, will be held from 4 to 7 on Thursday, November 14. Mrs. Hugh Walker and Mrs. Howard B. Waxwood Jr. are co-chairmen. Home-cooked turkey is on the menu. Tickets may be obtained at the church office, Quarry Street (924-1666) or by calling Mrs. Waxwood (921-7510).

---

Every Member Response Sunday is scheduled for this week by Prince of Peace Lutheran Church, concluding the month-long pledge drive headed by Less Baker. Pledges of time, treasure and talents are being solicited. Services, led by the Rev. John Pfisterer, are held in the Maurice Hawk School, Clarksville Road, Princeton Junction, at 10 with Sunday School at 11.

---

Guest speaker at Mount Zion A. M. E. Church, Little Rocky Hill, at 11 this Sunday will be the Rev. Charles C. Blake, presiding elder of the New Brunswick district. The Rev. G. Howard Hunt is pastor.

---

First Presbyterian Church will re-settle a Bulgarian refugee couple, physicist Aleksandar Alexiev and his wife, sometime this month. They are currently in Austria. Housing and job interviews are sought, and inquiries are directed to Dr. Warren Dodson, chairman of the refugee resettlement committee of the Board of Deacons, at 924-2112.

---

Rev. L. Burdelle Hawk, superintendent of the Northwest District of the United Methodist Church, will preach at 11 this Sunday in Princeton Methodist Church. His sermon title is "God Speaks Today."

---

Harold Heiss, an authority on the role of Central Jersey in the American Revolution, will speak this Friday at the family night covered dish supper in Calvary Baptist Church, Hopewell. The program begins at 7:30.

YOUR MOTHER-IN-LAW

will love this 11 year old stuccoed block rancher situated in a fine residential neighborhood 1½ miles west of Route 27 at Franklin Park.

The ground level has a living room with a fireplace, dining area, modern kitchen with plenty of eating space. Powder room. Solarium. Three bedrooms plus a study (or fourth bedroom). Full tile bath.

A wonderful apartment, also on the ground level, has a large bedroom, living room, dinette, full bath and a small kitchen. This may be used by members of the family or can be converted into a super-duper master suite.

The lower level is finished with plenty of storage, a laundry room, a huge paneled recreation room with a wet bar, plus a separate TV room.

A few of the custom extras are two separate oil burners, attic fan with timer, self-storing screens and storms, and lots of wall-to-wall carpeting. Two septic systems and three dry wells assure trouble-free disposal. A concrete terrace overlooks the fenced swimming pool and the cabana. Two car attached garage.

All in all, an exceptional value at the asking price of $50,000

YOUR OWN BIT OF COUNTRY

Yet only a block from the New York bus!

Our new listing, an owner designed, air-conditioned redwood ranch on almost an acre offers some lucky purchaser all the privacy in the world - and all the conveniences of one floor living.

The living and dining rooms both look out, through thermopane windows, to a pool and pretty plantings, and are separated by a raised hearth fireplace opening to both. Three good bedrooms and two tiled baths, an eat-in kitchen and screened porch. Downstairs, there is a finished playroom big enough for ping pong and shuffle board, a huge study or fourth bedroom, and the usual laundry and utility areas.

Fine Princeton Township location, easy walking distance of Littlebrook School - and just 15 years young.

Priced at $57,500

NEED FOUR BEDROOMS, LIKE TREES?

Then call us quickly about another new listing. This nicer than new two story colonial in nearby Montgomery Township is a grand house for the active family. Large living and dining rooms for formal entertaining, huge panelled family room with fireplace for the kids - and a kitchen that is a housewife's dream. Add an acre lot studded with dogwoods, a pretty area convenient both to Princeton and the new shopping center - this property in move-in condition can't last long.

Offered at $49,500

--A complete selection of homes in all price ranges— in Princeton and nearby areas.

Our listings, as those of all New Jersey Real Estate Brokers, are subject to open housing.

California farm workers need our support. They are excluded from the National Labor Relations Act which protects most American workers. The corporation growers refuse to recognize their union. If they attempt to strike, the growers replace them with imported Mexican labor. They must rely on the economic pressure of millions of sympathetic consumers across the nation to force the growers to bargain in good faith. Collective bargaining will bring decent working and living conditions for the first time to California fields. Show your support for Cesar Chavez and his courageous people. Ask your store to remove its grapes. For further information, call Kitt Sawitsky 452 7376.

IF CLASSIC COLONIALS ARE JUST YOUR CUP OF TEA, here is one you must not miss! We travel up a long lane to this historic "General Lee House" built 1760-1765 and boasting of all the special things that ONLY primitive Colonials may have Beamed ceilings, 4 working fireplaces (a 5th to be uncovered), classic center hall design. Brick and stone construction completely restored in 1965 with such modern things as kitchen with wall to wall carpeting, breakfast room (which doubles as area for "messy projects" for kiddies), panelled powder room Carpeted den with beamed cathedral ceiling and built in bar; cozy library, attractive living room and magnificent dining room (this has walk-in fireplace) The area surrounding the house had been terraced and formally landscaped with brick walks (with hidden lighting) that lead to heated swimming pool. Fenced paddock and old barn which now houses three horses. There is also an original stone barn which is just ideal for restoration for guest or playhouse All this on approximately 10 rolling acres in Hopewell Township

Peter Pan and Wendy and all the Lost Boys of Never-Never Land could all set up housekeeping in our newest listing. Cute as a doll house, it is deceptive as to space and surprisingly roomy. Center hall, pretty living room with fireplace, separate dining room opening to a large screened porch that overlooks an English garden There is a huge master bedroom with adjoining bath, three other bedrooms and another full bath—but the piece de resistance is a family room set up to look and feel like an English pub.

All of this — plus a half acre lot shrubbed and fenced for privacy, and within a clock's throw of the Littlebrook School Offered at $49,500, and something to crow about!

News Of The THEATRES

WHO IS SHAW?

Max Adrian. Brisk, bouncy and a mere 38 years of age, Max Adrian will come on the McCarter stage next Monday at 8:30 as the youthful George Bernard Shaw.

In the course of the evening, he makes his way toward a crochety 93, apparently working out the make-up problems in full view of the audience. Tickets on sale at the box-office.

Mr. Adrian will present Bernard Shaw in the light of research done by Michael Voysey, who spent a year and a half with Shaw's letters, speeches, prefaces and tartly miscellaneous writings.

BECK AND MALINA

And "Living Theatre." Is it "formless, arbitrary and without content"? or does it have "profound formal structure?"

The Living Theatre has been described in both ways, and Princeton audiences can take their choice when Julian Beck and Judith Malina bring the 35-member company to McCarter for a one-night stand on Saturday, November 30 at 8:30.

"Mysteries and Smaller Pieces", the Beck-Malina choice for McCarter audiences, was created by chance when the Living Theatre was asked to give an evening of entertainment in Paris. It's the one referred to as both "formless" and "profound."

SYMPOSIUM SATURDAY

Public invited. "What's Happening in Black Theatre?" will be explored and explained and discussed by a panel of experts this Saturday during a symposium to be held at McCarter Theatre from 4:30 to 7 p.m.

The public is invited to attend. After the 7 p.m. dinner break, the repertory company will give its 8:30 p.m. performance of "The Village: A Party." Tickets are now on sale for this performance. All members of the McCarter Guild and all teachers, will be guests of the theatre.

Panel members will be Dr. Austin Clarke of Yale, Charles H. Fuller Jr., Larry Neal, William McCleery, Herbert Showell, Ed Bernard and Daryl Johnson.

Dr. Clarke, a native of Barbados, teaches theatre and black literature courses at Yale. He has won literary prizes in England and Canada, has broadcast for the Canadian Broadcasting Company and taught at McGill University.

Mr. Fuller is the author of "The Village: A Party;" Mr. Neal is the well known black playwright and essayist; Mr. McCleery teaches at Princeton University and is a member of McCarter Theatre's faculty committee; Mr. Showell is a poet and a member of the staff at Temple University; Mr. Bernard plays the leading black role in "The Village" and Mr. Johnson is a student at Princeton University and a member of the Association of Black Collegians.

The panel will be moderated by Ron Hobbs, literary agent for many black writers, including Leroi Jones, Julius Lester and Mr. Neal.

MORE FISH

Two Shows Planned. Country Joe and the Fish will give hard rock a short breather on Saturday, November 23, and will then give a second performance at 11 p.m. in Alexander Hall. Their first one, at 8 p.m., has been sold out.

Tickets for the pre-midnight appearance are now on sale at the box-office of McCarter

Theatre. If you've already got 8 p.m. tickets, how about staying around for the second show, too?

Meanwhile standing room only is still available for Richie Havens' first Princeton appearance. He will play Alex under Hall Friday, November 15 at 8 p.m.

"THE HUNT"

In Film Series. "La Caza" (The Hunt)—a Spanish film made last year by Carlos Saura, will be the next in McCarter's International Film Series.

It will be shown next Tuesday at 8 p.m. and tickets will be on sale at the door.

"The Hunt," outwardly the story of four men who go rabbit hunting, is actually a story of the corruption and savagery of man. Three of the hunters are Spanish Civil War veterans, and their hunt becomes a symbolic enactment of the war itself.

"KILLER" PERFORMED

At Murray Theatre. It is a compliment to Theatre Intime that the major criticism which its current production prompts is the opposite of the one most frequently applied to amateur efforts. With Lonesco's "The Killer," which resumes this Thursday through Saturday at Murray Theater, the talented group has clearly bitten off less than it could have chewed.

Although he has failed to bring dramatic unity to this awkward play, director Frederic O'Brady has skillfully realized the comic and melodramatic potential of the individual scenes and has provided some clever stage effects.

William Hootkins' performance as the hero, Berenger, is a tour de force, a stunning histrionic display which charges a relatively uninteresting character with dramatic life. The supporting cast is also adept.

Yet it remains a mystery throughout the evening why the company should have chosen to bestow all this talent on such an intellectually bland and dramatically uncoordinated work.

Like "The Lesson," which Intime performed with great success last month, "The Killer" is a comic elaboration on Ionesco's favorite theme, the degradation of Western civilization. But it totally lacks the unity, subtlety and power of the shorter work.

It is a veritable potpourri of the standard devices of the theatre of the absurd. There are morbid and grotesque situations, comic interludes of nonsense dialogue, ridiculous props.

Cohesim Lacking. All these elements never really coalesce into a unified experience. Different scenes make entirely different demands on the audience, and some of them do little to advance the dramatic movement.

The formula in which all these factors are placed is a plot centering on the efforts of Berenger to rid the sterile, mechanized paradise of the radiant City of the scourge of a killer who lures his victims to death by taking advantage of their irresistible desire to look at a mysterious photograph.

It becomes apparent that Berenger is caught in a pattern of tragedy, or rather an absurdist version of it. In the final act, which is twice as long as it need be, he confronts the menace with the entire arsenal of Western culture. Reason, rhetoric, learning and compassion all disintegrate in the face of this evil and Berenger submits to his fate.

IT'S NEW ## To Us

TURNTABLE JUNCTION: (That's the bricked-in turntable in the foreground) is an interesting village of shops, many of them housed in authentic copies of colonial buildings, right in the heart of historic Flemington.

THE WEATHER IS RIGHT

For Exploring . . . The call of autumn, luring us into the country, may well take you on the back roads and highways leading to Flemington, an interesting old Jersey town dating back to early colonial days. It's a beautiful ride, any route you take, especially in the next few weeks when the countryside will explode with color.

In Flemington itself, there is a variety of architecture that is positively startling — colonial, Federal, antebellum, Victorian, modern, located side by side on the main streets. And down by the railroad tracks is the fascinating Turntable Junction, a reconstruction of early American duplicating buildings treasured by historical societies all over the East.

Turntable Junction, developed by Theodore Merritt, houses about 15 specialty shops and the quaint Spread Eagle Inn, all open every day of the week from 10:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m.

"Everything is kept so immaculate at the Junction, and I like it that way," Miss Jane Iorio said the other day from behind the counter in the country store called "Mother Huhbard's Cupboard."

The shop where she's employed is tiny and crowded to the rafters with gourmet foods — among them the famous Pin Money brand of relishes and jams made in New England. "Mr. Van Dyke knows his foods," she says of the shop owner.

You'll find marmalade from Oxford, England, imported cheeses challenged by equally delicious varieties from Pennsylvania Dutch country and upper New York State. There's Irish bacon — ever tried it? And since times have changed, Pennsylvania Dutch birch beer in modern zip-top cans. Why not.

If you don't collect antique buttons, you're going to be lured into the game at the little corner shop named "The Boutique," a building copied from a landmark in Warwick, R. I. The buttons are enchanting. Some are rare 18th Century items, including two that bear the red cap of the French Revolution.

Some of the Revolutionary War buttons are as big as the silver dollars we used to see around. They are elaborately painted, with portraits and other designs.

Mrs. Vivian Ertell is the owner, and her daughter Mrs. Ted Merritt, runs the shop. You'll find the price range runs from 25c for the "pokes" in a basket to all the way up there. A woman browsing through the "pokes," was heard to say softly to herself, "Why, I've thrown buttons like that away!"

You'll also see antique jewelry reproductions, Wedgewood jewelry and ivories.

...At the Candy Caboose, is about every variety of fudge you have ever heard of—milk chocolate nut, chocolate nut, black walnut, peanut butter, vanilla, cherry, pistachio, rum raisin.

According to Mrs. Hoffman, who says, "I like them all—that's my downfall!" the candy is all homemade and the store usually carries 10 different flavors. The rum raisin, if you want to pioneer, is delicious.

There's also a lot of dietetic candy at the Caboose, as well as the old-fashioned horehound drops and root beer barrels.

At the Nut Kettle you should indulge your taste for high living by trying the cashew butter. You've heard of peanut butter? Well, this is big flavorful cashews mashed into a creamy butter. It's great on tiny slivers of toast or bits of toast. Ed Petty sells it in a pretty ceramic pot that's ovenproof, and boxes it, so it makes a nice gift. ($1.95)

Every gift pack at the Nut Kettle includes some sort of a usable containers—a tole box, an eagle jar, a wicker box that could be used as a purse or a lunch box, if you'd like to dine on two bottles of wine—and these items are useful long after the nuts they carried are a happy memory.

The Nut Kettle has a fine variety of fresh-roasted nuts, and over in the pantry corner is an exceptionally good cherry conserve with almonds and brandy, made by Elsenham of Essex, England, who also put out a marmalade made with Seville oranges and dark Navy rum that Mr. Petry describes as "a real gutsy man's marmalade." There too, you'll see granulated filberts, filbert flour (8 oz. for $1.10) and black walnuts, shelled, of course.

We found a John of Gaunt chess set in the Freight Station—(this is part of the working freight station, so watch your doors). The chess set is designed and made by Richard Synek, and it is extraordinarily beautiful, with John of Gaunt in his crusader's garb.

The pieces are sculptured in Baroque style; the large checkered board is handstamped. ($140) There's also a "Charles Martel" set that's quite different. ($115) Paul Rickolt will order for you.

He also has in the Freight Station a build-your-own candelabra set, which is very contemporary in design. ($3.75 each unit, as far as you want to go).

The Beacon pewterware is interesting the first pewter you'll see in modern design. A Yale metalurgist began working with the pewter last year, and Mr. Rickolt was his first distributer. The old-fashioned cups have straight sides, with a sudden cut-in at the base. The bowls, too, are straight-sided, and very attractive.

For a change of pace, there's Calico Junction where you'll find casual clothes. We saw a sleeveless leather dress ($24), some leather coats, and a very exceptional group of hand-screened print sweaters made of lambswool, angora and rabbit hair ($13). The colors are fresh and lovely. There are coordinate slacks ($15).

Calico Junction also has some interesting pocketbooks and costume jewelry in the medium price range. Over on one side, you'll find corduroy brunchcoats printed in colors as bright as the garden in summer ($10.)

If you have been growing window plants that never bloom, you'd best check in at the Flower Crib, where Peter Grover has you in mind. Every plant has growing, feeding and sunning instructions.

While we were sort of taken with the potted Norfolk Island pine (nearly 5-feet high), you may be amused by the Prayer plant, a Brazilian oddity that folds up its fat, pearshaped leaves at night. There's also a Zebra plant, and you can guess the leaf markings from the name.

The Flower Crib has, or can get, the usual and the unusual in plants, and many are on the shelves ready to be taken home with you. There's a free consulting service for customers. The building, by the way, is actually a 150-year-old corn crib.

The Tartan Shop across the way has about everything you'd imagine, from a "Scottish Clans Calendar" to buckled kilts, ($29.50). And argyle socks, and tassled tams. . . and a dirk paper opener. Mrs. Jean Kinaird is the proprietor.

At this point, you may as well stop and try the "hot pye" at the Spread Eagle, and have lunch as well. There are some Early America dishes to sample, which we found tasty. In fact, our own enthusiasm for the pecan "pye" sent us on down the path to the Junetime Bake Shop to buy a whole one.

The Bake Shop bakes its own rye bread (60c a loaf), round, fat loaves of white bread (50c), pies, cookies, fruit flips and other things—all country style.

Geotry is a shop for men's wear—nice tweedy things, mainly. John DeMatteo doesn't go in for Nehru jackets. There are bulky ski sweaters, the Enro tapered shirts, Arnold Palmer windbreakers ($15.), and tweed and plaid jackets of imported fabric priced in the range of $55 to $65.

Injury Fells Dancer

One of the dancers with the Pennsylvania Ballet Company is Gretchen Ward Warren, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Herman Ward of Belle Mead, and an alumna of Mia Gibbons' Aparri School in Princeton.

A knee injury will keep Mrs. Warren from dancing with her company when the Pennsylvania troupe is here at McCarter on November 17. The young Princeton dancer has been with the Pennsylvania Ballet Company for the past three years. Her husband, a chemist, is research manager for the Philadelphia Quartz Company.

News Of The Theatres

But having brought his audience to the verge of an absurd catharsis, Ionesco cops out and plunges it into sentiment and significance. The ending is a bourgeois prostitution of the absurd and a contradiction to much of what has gone before. Unlike the deaths of the victims of the earlier acts, Berenger's is not ridiculous but pathetic.

Mr. Hopkins' portrayal of this fatuously fervent palladin is flawless. He has the commanding stage presence and the vocal egergy to realize Berenger's eloquence and passion, while the rhythms and tone of his speech and his subtly choreographed movements, which constantly lead him into dead ends or around in circles, convey the futility and stupidity of his efforts.

The last act is his entirely, and it would have seemed interminable with an actor of less ability. He delineates Berenger's gradual degradation with admirable precision.

Of the generally excellent supporting cast, Geoff Peterson, as Berenger's mysterious friend, and Gail Simmons as his "fiance", stand out.

The production is somewhat handicapped by George Miller's set, which is ugly and cumbersome. The complicated geography of the scene changes could have been more clearly achieved with a different set.

— William H. Simon

CAMELOT: Richard Harris and Vanessa Redgrave as Arthur and Guenevere in the musical opening at the Playhouse this Friday.

DANCE SERIES OPENS . . . With Pennsylvania. "A company in its fresh and crisp, salad days, with brilliance and command of style . . . a company very well worth seeing." That's Clive Barnes speaking for the New York Times and writing about the Pennsylvania Ballet when the company made its New York debut last season.

The 10 members of the Pennsylvania Ballet will open McCarter's dance series with a 3 p.m. performance on Sunday, November 17. Tickets are on sale at the box office.

The company, founded in 1963 under the direction of Barbara Weisberger, was one of eight American companies to receive a Ford Foundation grant in 1966 to bolster its future growth.

"PICNIC" PLANNED By PDS Drama Club. William Inge's "Picnic" will open Friday, November 22, at the Princeton Day School theatre, presented by the PDS Drama Club. First produced by the Theatre Guild in 1953, the play received warm reviews from the New York drama critics.

The PDS cast includes Derry Light, Marjorie Burt, Chris Reeve, Bill Flemer, Bob O'Connor, Jane Wiley, Francine Barlow, Barbara Miller, Becky Ramsey, Paula Zaitz and Tim Smith. Tickets for the 8:30 production may be obtained through PDS students or at the door.

Production for the play is headed by stage manager Cia Ballantine, as Doug Rieck will handle lighting and Bruce Plapinger is in charge of sound. Abby Sheldon and Beth Healy are co-chairmen of make-up and costumes, while Candy Boyajian and Jeanie Gorman head the props committee. Debbie Merrick is publicity chairman and Bob Wilmot leads ticket arrangements.

Faculty members involved are director Herbert McAneny

Engagements and Weddings

ENGAGEMENTS

Soda-Vigilanco. Miss Ellis a Soda, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Soda of 6 Stanley Avenue, to Thomas Vigilanco Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Vigilanco of Morgantown, W. Va., and Florida. The wedding will take place December 28.

Miss Soda, a graduate of Douglas College, attended Wells College and the Institute de Poitiers. She teaches French in Lawrence High School. Mr. Vigilanco holds degrees in chemical engineering and business administration from the University of West Virginia. He served as a captain in the Air Force and is employed by Pan American Airways, Florida.

Beaver-Hinkel. Miss Carol L. Beaver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul F. Beaver of Longmeadow, Mass., to James C. Hinkel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert C. Hinkel of Poe Road. A February wedding is planned.

Miss Beaver, a graduate of Cornell University, is a placement interviewer with H. P. Hood and Sons, Charlestown, Mass. Mr. Hinkel was graduated from Princeton High School and Pennsylvania State University. He manages production operations for Hood's Dairy Foods Division.

WEDDINGS

Miller-Burnham. Miss Lillian L. Burnham, daughter of Mrs. Lucius L. Burnham of 277 Franklin Avenue and the late Mr. Burnham, to William R. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Miller of Bowling Green, Ky. November 2: Miller Chapel, Princeton Theological Seminary.

The couple will live in New York City.

Seiden-Holston. Miss Deborah A. Holston, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. James W. Holston of Moore, Okla., to Edwin van D. Seiden II of Milwaukee, Wis., son of Mr. and Mrs. William K. Seiden of 37 Olden Lane. November 1: First Methodist Church, Moore.

The bride is a graduate of Oklahoma College of Liberal Arts, where she was a speech and hearing therapy major. Her husband, an alumnus of The Darrow School, received a bachelor's degree in political science from the University of Arizona. He was a lieutenant in the Army for three years, receiving the Bronze Star for heroism in Vietnam. Currently, he is a graduate student in urban affairs at the University of Wisconsin.

Godfrey-Gage. Miss Nancy M. Gage, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Gage Jr. of Ridgewood, to William T. Godfrey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard J. Godfrey of Pennington. November 2: Christ Episcopal Church, Ridgewood.

The bride, a graduate of Immaculata College of Washington, D. C., was employed by General Cable Corporation, New York City. Mr. Godfrey, an alumnus of Central High School of Hopewell Township and Gettysburg College, is employed by General Cable Corporation.

It's New To Us

You'll find some jaunty (but conservative) tweed hats ($5.50) that also come in a leather crown, corduroy brim style ($7.50) Both will take the rain.

They have the wide watchbands that look like a polo player's wristband. "Even the girls come and buy these for themselves," we were told. Priced at $3.50. Right next to them are the Canterbury tie clips—antique autos and other designs. It's a good place to shop for men's Christmas gifts.

The Liberty Tree has those big ceramic mugs that you noticed in the Spread Eagle Inn. Glazed in brown and white, the matching pitcher is $1.75.

According to Francis Linderman, whose tasteful spirit is reflected in the attractive house gift items she displays, "We sell an awful lot of lamps—and candles, too. A woman bought $11 worth of candles on Sunday."

She has those Iroquois reproductions of the Ford Museum china collection; coffee and end tables, brass door knockers in horse shoe and spread eagle patterns, pewterware, "GR" trivets and fragrant, handmade soaps in little 30c balls.

Here's where you'll see the old colonial paint colors, put up by the Colour Cupboard. "A pint goes a long way in restoring a piece of furniture," one of the saleswomen comments. In fact, a pint will antique the average bureau and two chairs.

At the fragrant Holiday Express shop, Mrs. Jean Jones has the porcelain Blumenkinder (Flower Children) that are the successor to the famous Hummel figurines. There are 12 enchanting little creatures, and the Hummel factory has limited production to 1000 of each, so you'll be getting a collector's item. The prices range from $25 to $50.

Here, too, are Christmas decorating ideas that are a delight, from the colored glass mobiles that brighten sunny windows, elves for the tree, wall and centerpiece decorations to Danish Christmas spoons and Christmas Linens. Advent calendars are in, ranging in price from 50c to $2, each with a tiny opening for each day of the season.

For your child, you'll find the new instant candle wax—fragrant pellets and a wick ready to be poured into any mold she'd like. There's bayberry (green), pine (red) and sandalwood (orange), priced at $1.50. Also, the imported Christmas cards are in, and here the early bird finds his reward.

In the Kitchen Kottage, a fine place to putter around, are the mini-gingerbread cutters (a boy, a girl) at 50c a pair. "We can't keep them in stock!" They also have the new egg cutters ($3.49) that will go to work for you on carrots and radishes as well.

Against one wall are the Le Creuset pots and pans, their bright ceramic overlay making cooking a cheerier chore. There are cocktail party accessories, kitchen linens, tiny pitchers for breakfast trays—the place is fun.

The Schooner, located near the Spread Eagle, has knitted suits and dresses, hand-loomed sweaters. The very attractive three-piece knits range from $30 to $40.

There are some long-sleeved shifts in soft blue, mellon or green that have a nice weight to them. ($25.)

For toys, try the Wunderland Depot. If you're early enough in the season, they'll still have a full supply of music boxes, which always lend an enchantment to Christmas. The dolls and fine toys are unusual. You probably saw the Depot's display at at Princeton Hospital Auxiliary's Christmas Boutique last week.

And last, but not least, is Heritage House, where early American furniture reproductions are available. This is a style of house furnishing that has pleased the homeowner's eye for nearly 200 years, so when you buy, your daughter and granddaughters will love it too.

BOMBING HALT NOT ENOUGH: Both Jackie Summerfield (left) and Marlene Fowler believe that bombing halts alone will not end the war in Vietnam. They feel the only solution is to get out completely. (Staff Photo)

Question Of The Week

Question: What is your reaction to President Johnson's announcement of a bombing halt against North Vietnam?

Where asked: Nassau Street.

Jackie Summerfield, 964 Kingston Road, PHS junior: I don't think it will help. Bombing halts are ridiculous. We've had them before and nothing ever comes of them. I'm not at all convinced this latest one will work. The only thing to do is to get out of Vietnam completely.

Marlene Fowler, Trenton, PHS senior: I'm very glad about it, that they've finally stopped it, but I have a feeling somewhat like Jackie's that it won't work out. I think the only way is to pull our troops out completely. I think Johnson is just trying to save his face.

Mrs. Dorothy Ritsko, 607 Lawrence Apartments, legal secretary: My first reaction is, it's about time. But I can't help but believe this is a political maneuver to get Humphrey in office. The timing is so close; here it is November 1. Why didn't he do this a long time ago? It has to be a political maneuver. I'm not saying I'm not glad to see it—it's fantastic—but it should have happened sooner. It's just too much of a coincidence.

Gerry Kallas, Skillman, foreign service officer: My reaction is very favorable, especially if it is based, as he said, on an improvement of negotiations with Hanoi. I think it came too late to help Humphrey; I think most people have already decided how they plan to vote. I view it as an honest shift in negotiations.

Nancy Briggs David, 246 Nassau Street, employee, Applied Logic: Great, just great —although I think he did it for political reasons. Don't you?

Hyetta Briscoe, Ewing Township, janitor: Ithink it's very good. I think it will bring about the start of a peace settlement. It's a wonderful thing. I guess everybody thinks that.

Thomas Kosciekeckl, Washington Well Farm, designer: To tell the truth, I was a little surprised to see it this week. I expected it the following week. It appeared as if the peace talks were progressing favorably and I thought Johnson would wait and see how the election came out. If it were in favor of Nixon then he probably would make every effort be could for a settlement.

Miss Karen Ehrlich, Long Island: I think Johnson is a very history-conscious man. I really believe he probably could have done this quite a while ago if he wanted to. He's probably pushing for Mr. Humphrey and to obtain peace within his own administration.

Douglas Follweiler, Magie Apartments, research assistant, Princeton University: I think it is a very good thing, I just hope it results insomething constructive. No, I don't think Johnson was playing politics. I'm not a Johnson man but I feel he is sincere in this. I think it is too late to help Humphrey at this point.

Carmen Melillo, Branford, Conn., bus driver for Yale cross-country team: I feel this way — if it going to hurt the troops, as I know it will, definitely, then I'm against it. The troops should come first and I say this as a Korean veteran who knows how it feels to be in the position our boys are in over there. On the other hand, I know a lot of people are going to say that continued bombings will hurt the civilians. But let's face it. That's war. What are you going to do? I definitely feel troop support should come first.

Miss Danielle Havens, Trenton, secretary for Princeton architect: I don't think it will help out. I don't think it will end the war — it may help de-escalate the war but I think it will be a long time before the war ends. Why? I don't think the North Vietnamese are serious; I don't think they want the war to end.

Miss Kathy Moffley, Wiggins Street, Firestone Library employee; I see it as a Johnny-come-lately political maneuver. I think because he didn't say anything about the terms set down by Hanoi it doesn't mean as it should. Also, we don't know yet what the reactions of the South Vietnamese are.

Martin Efron, Orchard Farm, RD4, farmer: implication is there, but it is hard to say.

Martin Gruhh, Pine Street, writer: I think it was a nice move he made, being he's leaving office. I only wish he had made it sooner. I hope the follow-up steps to the halt will lead to a complete cease fire in all of Vietnam.

Richard A. Swords, Lawrence Township, TV technician: Honestly and truthfully, I think it's a political gambit. He's trying to help Humphrey. Absolutely! Otherwise he could have done this six months ago or anytime he wanted to. No matter what, I think the end result will be the same. It takes two men to discuss anything and I don't think Hanoi wants to talk with us. I'm afraid the war will drag on until they decide it is to their advantage to quit.

MUSIC In Princeton

A SUPERLATIVE EVENING

Marlboro Players Excel. Whenever the "Music From Marlboro" players arrive for a concert in Princeton, one can usually look forward to an evening of superlative musicianship, enjoyable music and a varied program. These qualities were again evident as the first of three "Music From Marlboro" programs, sponsored by the Princeton University Department of Music, took place Thursday at 10 McCosh Hall.

The Instrumentalists were Paula Sylvester, flute; Elsa Ludewig, clarinet; Heidi Lehwalder, harp; Yoko Matsuda and Donald Weilerstein, violins; Scott Nickrenz, viola; and Ronald Leonard, violoncello. The program consisted of the Quartet in D Major for Flute and Strings, K. 285, by Mozart; String Trio in A Minor, Op. 77b, by Max Reger; the Debussy Sonata for Flute, Viola and Harp and the Introduction and Allegro for Harp, Flute, Clarinet and String Quartet by Maurice Ravel.

The performances were all first rate. Miss Sylvester displayed a warm full tone with her flute right from the opening notes of the Mozart Quartet, and this bouyant spirit seemed to set the standard throughout the program. These musicians play with vigor and enthusiasm. They are all extremely polished and present a confidence in their playing that produces exciting readings to all of their interpetations.

One seldom hears a work by Max Reger (1873-1916) today. Much of his music is without inspiration, long and academic, but not this String Trio. The first movement was among the finest things given to us by Reger, a composer who lived at a transitional point in the history of Western music. Reger's style reflects a cross between the Viennese "gemutlichkeit of early Schoenberg and Mahler, and the academic aspects of Baroque polyphony clothed in a post Wagnerian chromaticism.

The first two movements comprise the serious, formal Reger, not without genuine musical ideas worth hearing again. The final two movements abound in lighthearted humor, perhaps a bit overdone.

The string trio composed of Messrs. Weilerstein, Nickrenz and Leonard performed brilliantly. The three played as one, bringing out the main ideas with a clarity that made Reger's polyphony a delight to the ear.

Because of Reger's preference for constantly employing "leading tone technique" modulatory harmonic devices, it is all the more remarkable that the Marlboro performers maintained a structural balance throughout the four movement composition. It is in this harmonic area, that Reger's music tends to become tedious, but the interpretation by these three fine young artists provided the audience with an exposure to some exquisite tonal coloring of inspired late Romantic German music that is seldom heard.

Debussy's Sonata for Flute, Viola and Harp followed the Reger after the intermission, and it is as contrasting a piece as one can find when the two works are compared. Written toward the end of Debussy's life, the work abounds in extraordinary original touches, especially in the areas of rhythm and improvizational organization.

Miss Heidi Lehwalder, at 18, is already an accomplished harpist of considerable maturity, and her performance, along with that of Miss Sylvester on flute and Mr. Nickrenz on viola, was simply magnificent. This was perhaps the most difficult work to shape from an ensemble point of view, yet the three musicians managed its continual shifting moods and rhythms with conviction and aplomb.

All the participating artists returned to the stage (including the gifted clarinetist, Miss Elsa Ludwig) to perform the lush, but beautiful Ravel "Introduction and Allegro." Ravel was a master orchestrator who understood the tone color element of music as well as anyone and his idiomatic writing for each instrument is a marvel to observe at a live performance. Everything sounds so full, yet so clear. With this concluding work, the Marlboro players delivered a stunning performance, playing with ensemble perfection in bringing out Ravel's instrumental colors most vividly.

CASADESUS IS HEARD

In McCarter Concert. When Robert Casadesus, pianist, performs in Princeton, it is always an event, and Monday night's Series II concert at McCarter Theatre was no exception. The renowned keyboard artist presented himself in a program which included two works by Mozart, the Fantasia in D Minor, K. 397, and the Sonata in F Major, K. 332; the Four Ballades of Chopin; The Papillons, Op. 2 of Robert Schumann, and the Sonatine and Alborada Del Gracioso of Maurice Ravel.

There are probably many persons in the audience who have studied piano sufficiently

"Loving to Live"

Will Rogers used to say, "I never met a man I didn't like." Isn't this a wonderful way to feel!

It's possible for everyone to feel this way. In fact, Christian Science shows that it is as natural for us to love as it is for the sun to shine.

In her free public lecture, Miss Grace Bemis Curtis of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship will explain the spiritual basis of love and its direct relationship to life itself.

You and your friends are most cordially invited to attend.

long enough to have practiced the two Mozart works that opened the program. The familiar Sonata in F, K. 332 displays Mozart in his most "romantic" vein.

Mr. Casadesus tended to play down this characteristic, however, maintaining even tempi throughout each movement. There was some doubt as to whether his interpretation of the second movement was a bit too restrained. For some reason the music failed to catch fire, its beautiful lyricism seemed too subdued. The frenetic pace Mr. Casadesus took for the third movement brought out some marvelous left hand "pizzicato-like" effects and some marvelous phrase connections that one simply cannot achieve at slower tempi, yet at times the speed appeared even too much for Mr. Casadesus' hands, as some missed notes occasionally occurred.

Programming the Four Ballades by Chopin is a monumental feat and Mr. Casadesus delivered some exciting performances with these beautifully-wrought masterpieces. Here is Chopin at his greatest.

Each Ballade is a microcosm unto itself; a whole sonata condensed into one single movement running the entire expressive emotional gamut. The more familiar Ballades in G Minor, Op. 23 and Ab Major, Op 47, were delivered with stunning brilliance.

On hearing the less-frequently performed Ballades in F Major, Op. 38 and F Minor, Op. 52, one is rewarded by consistently grand musical invention. The bravura quality of these pieces produces a thickness of texture that often becomes a muddle in the climactic passages. Though this problem did exist at times for Mr. Casadesus, his artistic maturity and excellent technical equipment carried him over the many rough spots with apparent ease.

The Schumann Papillons was given a performance by Mr. Casadesus that left nothing to be desired. This is the delightful, witty young Schumann, venturing out into the world of musical characterization. The final section with the horn call in counterpoint with the return of the opening theme was rendered with superlative mastery.

With the Ravel Sonatine and the final selection, Alborada Del Gracioso, Mr. Casadesus was playing works with which he grew up in his youth. These pieces were new then and the brilliant tone colorist played them as if they were still new and vitally fresh. There wasn't a note out of place; just beautiful, sensitive playing right to the very end of the program.

Tres magnifique, M. Casadesus! Tres magnifique!

—Arno Safran

FOOTBALL CONCERT SET

By University Glee Clubs. The Harvard Glee Club will join the Princeton Glee Club Friday for the Annual Football Concert at 8 p.m. in Alexander Hall.

The Harvard group will perform a variety of compositions, from two 16th century unaccompanied motets and a 15th century Spanish drinking song to "And Death Shall Have No Dominion," Dylan Thomas, well-known poem set to music by composer Thomas Beveridge, a recent Harvard graduate.

The Princeton Glee Club will perform the "New Princeton Football Medley," an arrangement of several Princeton gridiron classics by Walter Nollner; compositions of Schubert and Dvorak, and a number of British and American folksongs. The two glee clubs will join in a 140 voice Bach cantata, "Der Herr segne euch."

Since the Harvard singers were last here two years ago, both clubs have both done major tours. The Princeton group spent five weeks with the Smith Glee Club in Europe, while Harvard joined the Radcliffe Choral Society for a tour including Japan, Southeast Asia, and Europe. Tickets for the performance are available at the University Store and at the box office Friday night.

MOZART RECITAL SET

For Choir College. Dr. Thomas Richner will offer a piano concert of Mozart's music at the Playhouse of Westminster Choir College on Tuesday, at 8 p.m.

Dr. Richner, acclaimed by music critics of several publications throughout the nation, is currently a faculty member of Douglass College. He began playing the piano at age five, and after graduating from the University of West Virginia, Dr. Richner won first prize in his recital debut at the Naumberg Competition in New York.

Since completing his doctoral work at Columbia University, Dr. Richner has given both piano and organ concerts in the U.S. and abroad. He is also co-founder of a nation-wide summer church music institute at Colby College, Waterville, Me.

The public is invited to attend Dr. Richner's recital, as well as all of the other concerts and lectures in the Westminster series.

FUND DRIVE LAUNCHED

For Chamber Orchestra. "The gap between gross income and expenses," identified by William H. Scheide as a common problem shared by all performing arts groups, will be narrowed and maybe even closed, through a fund drive now under way by the Princeton Chamber Orchestra Association. Mr. Scheide is president of the orchestra's board.

More than 2,500 families in Princeton will receive letters soon from Mr. Scheide, inviting support for the 1969 season. The orchestra will accept contributions ranging from $5 to $24 ("Friend"); $25 to $49 ("Patron"); $50 to $99 ("Sponsor") and $100 and beyond ("Donor").

Mr. Scheide says in his letter that "good friends" of the orchestra have promised to match public contributions dollar-for-dollar to help close the gap.

Contributions may be mailed to the Princeton Chamber Orchestra, 20 Nassau. All donations are tax-deductible.

FROM BACH TO SPAIN

With John Williams. J.S. Bach, Scarlatti and Handel will occupy guitarist John Williams for the first half of his McCarter Theatre recital on Tuesday, November 19, at 8:30.

After the intermission, Mr. Williams will play from the Spanish repertoire and the works of Albeniz, Granados

Vandalism, Not Mischief.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The last trick or treater has just lef our door and I am wondering whether Halloween, as practiced in Princeton, can continue in future years. Trick or treating are fine when carried out in conjunction with each other, but my experience is that the childrens' activities have broken down into two separate parts: greedy filling of sacks with enough candy to keep the dentists going until the year 2000; with "thanks yous" the exception, not the rule; and destructive acts of an entirely antisocial nature.

The toll at our house after two nights of it (Mischief Night and Trick or Treat Night) is two smashed pumpkins (which had been rather elaborately and joyfully prepared); raw egg all over the front door; my political posters being carried away and destroyed twice over; the chrome stripping on the car of a friend who parked briefly outside being torn off (since he is not from Princeton I had a bit of difficulty explaining this to him); and a good deal other, more serious mischief just narrowly averted. I don't call this fun. I call it vandalism.

Lest I sound unduly paranoid, I am assured by my neighbors that they have had similar experiences. Indeed, last year a neighbor had dirt thrown down into her fuel tank on Mischief Night which led to an explosion in her furnace which well near carried off the neighborhood.

We are new to Princeton, and perhaps I do not understand all of the local folkways very well. Nevertheless, if it is not too presumptuous I would like to offer the following suggestions: 1) that only a one evening celebration be planned or permitted; that parents be sure to speak to their children and set limits to their activities and that the community hold children and/or their parents responsible for acts of vandalism; that the police put on special patrols Halloween Night so as to insure that major acts of vandalism are stoped. Watching our town's children operating the last night or so, I am convinced that law and order was not an entirely bogus issue in this year's political campaign.

What's Right With Princeton.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Letters to the Editor are often unpleasant complaints about what's wrong with Princeton; this letter is not a complaint but a bit of thankyou note to our community, a letter pointing up a good bit that's right about Princeton.

On Saturday, October 19, members of our family were critically hurt on Route #206 in a two-car collision that resulted in the death of one man and a close call for the other six (two of them were in critical condition).

Township police officer Sweeney; bystanders who quickly pitched in to help; the First Aid Squad who made several life-saving trips to the Hospital; nurses, staff, and some 14 doctors at that hospital whose concern and help went way beyond the call of duty—all have put us eternally in their debt.

No thank you can be adequate, but I'd like to say we're convinced that there's a lot that's right about Princeton and we are deeply grateful to all who helped us and wordlessly reminded us of that fact.

LEE H. BRISTOL, JR.
President, Westminster Choir College and Gary Lott, who supervises scenery construction.

PLAYHOUSE

Camelot (starts Friday — note change in usual show times) has much on which to feast the eyes — from the opening wintry forest scene (the snow is not cold in Camelot) to the "lusty month of May" when the whole court frolics, from the grandeur of the Great Hall and Throne Room to the mystical flickering of thousands of candles as Arthur makes Guenevere his queen.

Perhaps Franco Nero's Lancelot du Lac may fall short of the ideal romantic lover, but Richard Harris makes a satisfying kingly figure, no less commanding for his warm human qualities.

And Vanessa Redgrave is totally captivating as Guenevere — intelligent, merurial, beautiful in a fine-drawn airy way. (She has 40 costume changes.) Our first sight of her in the opening wintry scene, wearing a white cloak, hooded and furred, sets the mood of fantasy.

It is an unorthodox and whimisical version of the legend of Arthur, based on T. H. White's "The Once and Future King." Among the beautiful melodies is the title song which is sung and played in the background at intervals throughout the film.

The romance is bitter sweet and ends in tragedy when Guenevere surrenders to her love for Sir Lancelot. The tone of the musical, light and humorous at the start, gradually darkens as the treachery of his wife and friend lead to the destruction of Arthur's world.

GARDEN and TRENT

I Love You, Alice B. Toklas! (now playing) The "Alice B Toklas" recipe seems to be take one nice Jewish boy with allergies and a legal mind, add a nice Jewish girl desperate for marriage to a good provider and a well dressed Jewish mother (with all the usual cliches); stir in a hippie girl, a guru, and salt with humor. The latter is supplied by Peter Sellers, who saves the picture.

It's an adult comedy drama, with the cast playing stereotypes that are naturally comic in themselves. Sellers manages to convey at once a feeling of liberation and bewilderment as he earnestly tries to adopt the hippie doctrine, long hair, filth, the works.

PRINCE

The Boston Straggler (held over.) The theme is handled more from the point of view of the threat of untreated mental illness than as a horrow story. A show of violence is avoided in that all 13 murders take place off-screen.

However, as the procession of suspects comes on in vignette scenes, you have glimpses of homosexuality male, female and double inversion; the erotic telephone caller, the prostitute's sadistic client, the ex-monk with a compulsion for self-flagellation, the gamut of the sordid, warped, pathetic and sick personalities stripped to the nub by police investigators.

Tony Curtis, as the Strong cer, gives an interesting interpretation to the role, playing it as a tortured, bewildered, sick man. Henry Fonda is really fine as the cultured Bostonian who comes to know him self through his probing the mind of the killer.

Four area residents have been named to the Dean's List at the Rutgers College of Arts and Sciences, for their work of last spring. They are William B. Putney, 95 Cedar Lane, a senior majoring in journalism; Geoffrey W. Bake, 152 Cedar Lane, who majored in biological sciences; Walter A. Ashby, 47½ Broad Street, Hopewell, a senior in English and Mark C. Wallen, Ridge Road, Hopewell, a sophomore concentrating in math and science.

Ernest Ward Jr., Nelson Ridge Road, will serve as the area chairman for the Brown University Fund, the chief source of unrestricted giving to the university. He is one of 100 alumni across the nation to head the annual drive.

Pamela Stevens, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. D. B. Stevens, Bertrand Drive, and Ellen Spencer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Spencer, Canal Road, will both appear in the Briarcliff College Drama Club's production of "The Bonds of Interest," by Jacinto Benavente, to open next Wednesday in Briarcliff Manor, N. Y.

Miss Stevens, a junior majoring in geography-cartography, will play Crenson, the actor of the circus clowns, and Miss Spencer, a freshman concentrating on theatre arts will portray Columbine, in the modern comedy about moral ideals.

Miss Kathleen Cherry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Cherry, 24 Dempsey Avenue, has joined the Beaver College field hockey squad.

Miss Cherry, a graduate of Princeton High, is a sophomore chemistry major at Beaver. She plays center halfback position on the school hockey team.

Alexander J. Donald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander B. Donald, 54 Patton Avenue, has joined Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity at Denison University, Granville, Ohio, where he is a freshman. He graduated in June from Princeton High School.

Charles G. Clark, 15 Southern Way, a Princeton internist, has been elected to membership in the American Society of Internal Medicine. ASIM is a federation of 51 societies in every state, except Alaska, and in Washington, D. C. and Puerto Rico, with a membership of more than 10,000 physicians.

Tim Haigh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Haigh, 21 Rollingmead, a sophomore at the University of North Carolina, has been a standout at goalie for the Tarheel soccer team recording six shutouts in seven games. The squad is 7-0 with four contests remaining. A Dean's List student, he plans to go out for swimming in the winter.

Miss Brenda H. Peterson, daughter of Mrs. Sigore T. Peterson, 254 Jefferson Road, has been named to the Texas Woman's University Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Miss Peterson, a biology major, is president of Delphi Society, an honorary senior women's organization. Since graduating Princeton High in 1966, she has been treasurer of the Campus Government Association (CGA), president of her class, coordinator of the school's counseling system and chairman of the CGA Interpretive Board.

Richard Chronister, 51 Park Place, has been elected president of the New Jersey Music Teachers Association, a group consisting chiefly of private music teachers, affiliated with the National Music Teachers Association.

The former educational director of the New School for Music Study, Mr. Chronister now teaches privately in Princeton and serves as educational director for the National Keyboard Arts Association. He has lectured throughout the country on educational techniques.

Miss Alice Hay, a senior at Wheaton College, served a "Nixon girl" in the Boston area, attending dinners rallies, and speeches.

MEMORIES OF '66

Harvard Unbeaten Then, Too. A Harvard football team which will have to overcome both a revived Princeton Tiger and memories of what happened to it here two years ago will seek to run its current string to seven in a row Saturday in Palmer Stadium. A crowd of 30,000 is expected to be on hand for the 1:30 kickoff.

Aptly described by a member of its coaching staff as "unbeaten, untied and unbelievable," the Crimson is deadlocked with Yale for the Ivy lead after having been picked in most forecasts for second division. The loss of 27 lettermen through graduation, plus a number of key holdovers through injury, appeared to dim Harvard's hopes of making a run for one of the top spots.

Two-thirds of the way through the season, however, the Crimson has played so well that it has not even had a close call in winning triumphs over Columbia, Cornell, Dartmouth and Penn, and the last three have scored a total of 13 points against a solid Crimson defense.

While the chief architects of Harvard's success are a pair of fine running backs in Captain Vic Gatto and Ray Hornblower, it is to a great extent the good line play on both platoons that has turned the trick so far. Obviously, Coach John Yovicsin has accomplished a solid job of rebuilding.

Best in Harvard History. Gatto and Hornblower are among the best running backs in the league. The Crimson captain, who packs 185 pounds on his 5-6 frame, already is the top ground gainer in Harvard history. Fullback Gus Crim (210) keeps the defense honest through the middle, with Gatto and Hornblower providing speed to the outside and the former also doubling as a safety man on punt returns. In the 28-6 triumph over unbeaten Penn, he ran one back 70 yards for a touchdown.

QUICK LOOK AT HARVARD

OFFENSE: Unusually strong running game built around Captain Vic Gatto, top ground-gainer in Harvard history. Will put extreme burden on Tiger ends and corner backs.

DEFENSE: Stingy is the word. Not only best in Ivy League but ranks third nationally in points allowed.

CHIEF ASSET: Overall ability, blended with extreme desire to atone for past two defeats at hands of underdog Princetonians.

CHIEF PROBLEM: Passing game tends to fall short of being a true threat.

TYPE OF ATTACK: T with variations, including split end and flanker back.

Much of the early doubt about Harvard's potential was based on the lack of an experienced quarterback. The spot has been filled ably enough by senior George Lalich, despite the fact that he played only 12 minutes in a reserve capacity during all of 1967.

If the Crimson has a weakness, it is Lalich's passing. The victory over Penn saw it complete only 4 of 14 for 48 yards, and the aerial game has not for the most part been impressive. However, both Gatto and Hornblower throw on pass-option plays, tending to keep the defense off balance.

Harvard will come into the Stadium with excellent balance. Matching its topflight running game is a defense that is not only tops in the Ivy League in total yardage allowed but third best in the nation in points yielded — an average of just under eight per game. More than anything else, that will be the biggest plus the visitors will take into the contest.

Tigers Have 4-Game String. If Princeton has had trouble defeating Dartmouth over the last several years, Harvard has had even greater problems with the Tigers. Not since 1963 has the Crimson won in this series, and its last two defeats have been real shockers.

On television at Cambridge last fall, two evenly matched teams took the field but the Tigers left it victors by 45 to 6, largely on the basis of the five touchdowns that fullback Ellis Moore scored to set an Ivy record. It was two years ago, however, that a patched-up Orange and Black eleven came from behind to record a stunning 18-14 upset of a Harvard team that had also come into the contest unbeaten. If the 1968 Tigers get early momentum Saturday, memories of that game and the difficulty it has had in trimming Princeton in recent years could be more than Harvard can overcome.

BROWN BLOWN APART

Tigers Win on Road Again. Princeton fans who have only seen the Tigers play in Palmer Stadium or nearby Philadelphia may well wonder what happens to the team when it travels to New England. The 34-7 triumph over Dartmouth at Hanover was followed last week by a 50-7 walloping of Brown—an opponent which had visions of defeating Dick Colman's operatives for the first time in 14 years.

It wasn't that Princeton finally did everythiag right—penalties nullified two of its touchdowns during the afternoon and three other drives were stalled out by fumbles — but rather that it took prompt advantage of virtually every error the Bruins made to break the game open early. Ability to run—the only thing Princeton has done consistently all season—held up again and the overall result was the most lopsided victory in this series since the 52-0 triumph here in 1961.

The home team, very much wheed-up for the game by its upset over Colgate and a 15,000 homecoming crowd, fumbled the opening kickoff. Princeton recovered and at 1:36 Arnie Holtberg put the Tigers on the board with a 31-yard field goal.

The visitors went ahead 10-0 when tailback Brian McCullough ran through tackle from three yards out for the first of his four touchdowns. Brown retaliated by recovering a fumble on the Tigers' 22 and scoring in five plays but sophomore Chris Montgomery took the ensuing kickoff 76 yards into the end zone and the Tigers were gone from there.

Less than three minutes later, end Tom Hutchinson blocked a Brown punt and Ron Bordley ran the ball in from the 19 to make it 23-7 midway through the second period. The third quarter was surprisingly scoreless, but McCullough got three more TD's and Captain Dick Bracken added a fourth with 56 seconds left to make the final period a track meet.

With junior Scott MacBean benched because of a back injury, McCullough and Bracken alternated at tailback, both turning in great performances. The Tiger captain had a fine ten-yard rushing average in 13 carries, aided by one 67-yard run, and was an encouraging 2 for 3 on his passes. McCullough was 3 for 6 in the air, gained a total of 127 yards running and passing and took a virtually insurmountable lead in the Ivy scoring race with 54 points. Ellis Moore's 54 in seven games last fall was tops in this department, and McCullough has three more to play.

Injuries a Major Factor. A was the case two years ago when Princeton went into the Harvard game, injuries are expected to cause sizeable personnel problems. In addition to MacBean, whose status remains in doubt, 245 lb. tackle Dave Rantz was injured in the Penn game and did not go to Providence; linebacker Arnie Holtberg left the game Saturday in the first period with a severe ankle sprain; the other starting linebacker, Ron Miles, dislocated his elbow and may be out for the season. In addition, offensive guard Steve Saner, Paul Miller, an offensive end, and corner back Mike Bigby are all doubtful for action against Harvard.

Repetition of the upset of 1966 is, of course, a possibility. Potentially, the Tigers are the equal of that team, whereas Harvard may not be quite as good as the team which had Vic Gatto as a sophomore and was sparked by halfback Bob Ivy Leo and quarterback Ric Zimmerman. However, overconfidence, a basic factor in the Crimson's defeat then, will be replaced by a surging desire for revenge. More than that, from a Princeton point of view, the Tigers have disappointed so often this fall through their inconsistent play that the burden of proof rests squarely on them.

PHS AT STEINERT

After East Brunswick Loss. For the third week in a row, the Little Tigers of Princeton High will be on the road this Saturday when they travel to Steinert for a 1:30 contest.

Two thirds of the way through the season, PHS has a 3-3 mark, while Steinert, upset last week by Trenton, has a 4-2 record. Asked what affect Trenton's victory over Steinert, its first in 20 games—might have over the Spartans, PHS coach Dick Wood replied: "It might make them tougher."

"Steinert," he said, "depends offensively on two good runners, Joe Rakoski and John Vig. They don't have a passing attack so they are confined to running but there isn't much variety in their ground game. Trenton was able to run between their tackles consistently, and if we can move the ball as well as we did against East Brunswick, I think we should do well."

Wood also commented that although Steinert hadn't been scored upon in the last three games prior to its meeting with Trenton, he hasn't been impressed with the Spartan defense. Last year, PHS breezed to a 40-0 victory over Steinert.

Should PHS topple Steinert and Notre Dame next week it would have lost only to Hamilton in the race for the mythical Mercer County championship which it captured last year. Hamilton, undefeated in Mercer County play, still must face Trenton and Steinert.

"It's possible we could win our two and Hamilton lose one, but even if we did, I think they would bypass us, "remarked Wood," because we are the only team that doesn't play St. Anthony."

Shoe on Other Foot. The game it wanted most of a" this year, PHS failed to win when East Brunswick scored all its points in the last half Saturday to come from behind and top the visiting Little Tigers, 20-13. It was the second and last meeting between the two Last year, PHS won—also by a 20-13 score. "Each team won one and lost one by the same score. You can't get any closer than that," said Wood.

Chris Gartner's 31-yard field goal gave PHS a 2-0 lead at the half. After the Bears had scored twice in the third period, Nick Arcaro's 20-yard run capped a 63-yard, seven-play march that brought the Little Tigers to within three points at 13-10 and set the stage for Gartner's second field goal of the game. That came with less than a minute gone in the final period and resulted from the home team 33—a 43-yard boot, his third in the last two games.

"Gartner looked good kicking and Arcaro was by far the standout player for both teams," said Wood. "He's the best halfback in this area because he plays both ways. "He'd be the best even if he played only one way.

PHS dominated the first half. "We moved the ball very well," commented Wood. "We cut their running off entirely and rushed their passer but we couldn't score." Most of the 62 lost yards lost rushing by the Bears came in the first half in which PHS ran 40 plays to 25 for East Brunswick.

Capitalize On PHS Errors. In the second half, PHS made a series of defensive mistakes. Wood commented, "and East Brunswick was able to capitalize on them." The Little Tigers turned the ball over six times.

lost three of five fumbles and had three of its passes picked off. Injuries to its secondary hurt just as much.

Bob Kennedy twisted his knee early in the game and sat out the remainder (he'll be ready to go against Steinert); Bob Cooper, shaken up severely in last week's game, got in for just one play; and when Dick Van Zandt twisted his neck and had to leave, and Arcaro was shaken up three times during the contest, PHS had three-fourths of its deep men on the bench.

After halfback Ed Baker took a pitchout and raced 43 yards for the Bears' third TD. PHS still had eight minutes left to comeback, it couldn't. An Arcaro pass was intercepted; an apparent recovery of a Bear fumble by Gary Diviaio was nullified by a controversial call by a referee farthest from the play; another fumble stalled the Little Tigers the next time they got the ball.

With about a minute to go, Arcaro ran 22 yards to the East Brunswick 47. He attempted four passes but all fell incomplete. In all PHS completed seven of 22 for 64 yards. East Brunswick completed nine of 18 for 107 yards.

Three Princeton completions came on its scoring drive, two to Joe Fisher and one to Pete McCrohan. End Bob Cramer's recovery of a Bear fumble on the Brunswick 32 set up Gartner's score-tying field goal.

Statistics indicate how evenly matched the two teams were. The Bears (5-1) had a 11-10 edge in first downs and 192-172 lead in rushing, while PHS ran 63 plays to 56 for the Bears.

PDS EYES THIRD WIN

Against MacArthur Military. Unable to extend its modest two-game victory streak Saturday, the Princeton Day School football team will seek its third victory this weekend against MacArthur Military Academy, in a game that is crucial to the team's chances of finishing with a season at .500 or better. Kickoff is set for 11 a.m. on Saturday on the Panther's field.

Pretty much as expected, a big, well-drilled St. Andrews team came up from Middletown, Del. Saturday and blasted its way to a 27-0 triumph. The next two games however, should give PDS a better chance of improving its record.

As added impetus in the MacArthur contest, the Panthers will be gunning for their third win, which would give them one more than they achieved all last season. MacArthur is only 1-4 on the season, with one of the losses coming against Montclair, 21-0.

Despite the lopsided score, the Panthers played some good defensive football against the undefeated visitors, and it should pay off against future opponents. The offense, quite ineffective and often guilty of not carrying out the right blocking assignments, should find the going a bit easier against MacArthur, but will need to perform better in any case.

Against St. Andrews, it could only accomplish a couple of first downs, until late in the game. With 50 seconds remaining, the second unit drove to the visitor's three-yard line, before the game ended.

Although it scored in every quarter, St. Andrews also fumbled several times and lost the ball once on a pass interception to an alert PDS defense, which never gave up. One of the visitor's scores came on a pass interception, and another after a fumbled snap on a punt gave them the ball in PDS territory. Two more were added when quarterback Erik Heggen was tackled in the end zone for a safety.

Terry Booth led the defense helping out on 17 tackles, Ashby and Crichton Adams had 14 tackles a piece and Dave Claghorn, 13, Keith Bash, 12, and Peter McCandless, 10.

DOUBLE DUTY: Sophomore Terry Booth is one of several PDS football players going both ways this fall, in the backfield on offense and filling in at linebacker on defense. Against St. Andrews, he aided in 17 tackles, high for the game for the Panthers.

U-STORE TOPS FUEL OIL

Losers Suffer First Defeat. A third quarter touchdown coming on a 26-yard pass from Bobby King to Steve Roderick lifted the Princeton University Store to a 6-0 upset triumph over previously undefeated Princeton Fuel Oil Sunday in Midget League Football action. In another upset, Nassau Conover toppled a favored Matthews Construction Company team, also by 6-0.

Wray Blattner's second pass interception of the contest set the U-Store up on the loser's 40-yard line. King ran for 14 yards before, throwing to Roderick for the score. Blattner also blocked a punt as the U-Store defense stuffed by Tony LaPlaca, Mike Meyer, Jimmy Brooks, Kevin Smith and Bob McHugh held the Fuel Oil attack in check.

Led by Dane Black, Ron Campbell, Lester Bethea, Clem Goethals and Mark Richards, Fuel Oil mounted three long drives, but could not cross the goal line. Buddy Kleiber, Craig Ribinson, Foster Schock and Peter Barnett played well on defense for the losers.

Nassau Conover put together a fine running and passing attack on a 60 yard drive for the lone score of the first game. Jamie Petrone got things moving with a 13 yard pass to Dave Harwood; John Soderman carried five times for 32 yards and Petrone capped the march with a seven-yard end sweep for the score.

Soderman had 92 yards overall in 22 carries. On defense Kevin Murphy recovered a fumble, while John McCullough, Pete Bonette, Peter Pilshaw and Dave Harwood stopped Matthews. Bobby Welsbecker had 55 yards in 14 carries, while Frank Caponi rushed for 17 yards.

In junior league games on Saturday, the Red and White team demolished the First National Bank, 18-0; and the J.P. Cleaver Co. tied the Gold and Blue team 6-6.

Bobby McPherson starred for the winners, getting 168 yards on seven carries, including an 80 yard touchdown run, and an eight-yard tally. Kevin Streater scored the other on a 21-yard sweep and had 77 yards in nine carries. Randy Bullock, David Lynton, Scott Thomas and Steve Kimbrough shut out the Bank on defense.

HUN SCHOOL FULLBACKS: Two fullbacks from Princeton on the Hun School football team, striving for its second undefeated season, are Stanley "Skitch" Donald (left) 180-pound, 5-11 senior, and Jim Koplíner, 204-pound, 5-10 junior. Donald also serves as the team's punter. "His kicking has saved us a lot of times in the last two years," said Hun coach Hawley Waterman.

had 64 yards in 11 carries and passed twice to Bob Silvernan for a total of 35 yards. Howard Brooks had 21 yards in five carries.

Andy Bolster scored for the Gold and Blue in the second game, and had 52 yards in five carries. Tyke Davidson had 64 yards in six tries, including a 40-yard sprint that set up Bolster's touchdown. Jack Reeder had 29 yards in three tries. Townes scored for J. P. Clever and caught one pass for 25 yards. Richard Wilson had 30 yards in 13 carries.

HUN VS. BRYN ATHYN

League Lead at Stake. The big one this season in the Penn Jersey League will be played at Hun School Saturday at 2 when the Red and Black opposes Bryn Athyn. Each owns a 3-0 mark, as the two schools are the only unbeaten teams in the league.

"We'll be bigger and stronger; they'll be quicker and well conditioned," commented Hun coach Hawley Waterman. "They emphasize hustle and condition," he said, adding that Bryn Athyn has a good passing and running game.

"If we get by Bryn Athyn, I hope our momentum can carry us through the rest of the season," Waterman continued. "I don't think the boys will let Bryn Athyn detain them."

Should Hun get by the Pennsylvania team, Hun will be only two games away from a perfect season. Standing in the way are George School and Pennington. The records of each this season suggest that Hun, barring a big upset, should defeat both.

You have to go back to 1966 for the last Hun defeat. It won its last two games of the '66 campaign, won six and tied two last year and is 5-0 this season a skein of 15. "It's the longest winning streak since I've been here," reported Waterman, now in his thirteenth year as coach.

Both schools prepared for their meeting with easy victories last week. Bryn Athyn defeated Perkiomen, 18-7, and Hun scored once in each period Friday to defeat Friends Central, 27-13. The latter game was played on the losers' field.

Four Score for Hun. For Hun, Dick Mate and Mike Maguire scored on eight yard runs, and Jim Koplíner bucked over from the two. For the fourth, freshman reserve quarterback Alan Chalifoux tossed to halfback Steve Brooks for a 42-yard scoring play. Chalifoux also kicked three extra points.

Hun outrushed the losers, 242 yards to 68. Peters accounting for 102 yards in 14 carries for 7.3 yards per carry. Quarterback Maguire carried six times for 33 yards. In passing, the home team completed twice as many as Hun 15 to 7—but netted only 77 yards, three less than Hun.

After five games, fullback Mate is the leading scorer for Hun with five touchdowns, followed by Peters who has four. Chalifoux is third with 15 points. Peters is the leading rusher by a wide margin, gaining 525 yards in 59 carries. Mate has 198 in 49 rushes.

That Hun likes to stay on the ground is reflected by its rushing yardage of 1,206 compared in 472 for its opponents. Hun has attempted only 31 passes in its first five games and completed 12. However, those dozen completions have accounted for 254 yards 21 per pass.

In contrast, the opposition has attempted 72 passes, completed 23, but gained only 243 yards — 10 yards per pass. In another significant statistic, Hun has lost the ball only once in fumbling five times; it has returned nine kickoffs for a 29 yard average return compared to a 17-yard punt return by its opponents in 21 run backs. It has outscored the opposition, 135 to 26.

BETTY PINELLI LEADS

In Women's Bowling League. Betty Pinelli of Cranbury Bank rolled a 192 last week in the Princeton Women's Bowling League — the high individual game.

Lorraine Zarosa of fourth-place Mamel had 184 and Marilyn Silvester of Rosso's, 181. Others: Kitty Thomas, 180; Sara Rose, 179; Shirley O'Connor, 173; Marge Davison, 171; and Betty Coper, 170. Jackie Harrold converted the 5-7-9 split and Lorraine Zarosa mastered the 2-7 twice.

Rosso's Cafe, Cranbury Bank and Turney Motors are 1-2-3 in the league with 60, 53, and 50 points respective by. Mamel has 41, Swift's Colonial Diner, 34. Other league members are Tiger 5, Rocky & Sons, Homes of Merrill Mettler "A" and Mettler "B". Rosso's fashioned the high team series of 2434, while Cranbury Bank had the high team game of 872.

The annual Hi-Lo Tournament sponsored by the Trenton Suburban Woman's Bowling Association will be held next Saturday, the 16th, at the Curtis Lanes on Scotch Road, Trenton.

It is open to all members of the Association. Entry fee is $3.50.

Y OBTAINS FACILITIES

For Basketball Workouts. The YMCA will make available to its members the use of the Princeton High School gym from 8 to 10 p.m. starting on Monday and the Valley Road School gym for the same hours, starting next Thursday, November 14.

Individual members of the Y who wish to workout are invited to use the facilities. Team members of the Research and Industrial Basketball League are invited to use the gyms until the league begins competition. Gym shoes are mandatory at both schools.

PACKARD PACES H.A.C.

To 14-9 Win Over Dial. Two touchdown passes by quarterback George Packard provided the margin for the Harrison Athletic Club's 14-9 victory Sunday over Dial Lodge.

LUNCHEON HELD

By Springdale Women. The women golfers at Springdale held their closing luncheon last week, with Mrs. Donald Fruland presiding as chairman. Alan NeiderRitz club pro man, his successor, Jim Hultgren, were introduced.

After committee reports, Mrs. James Whalen, co-chairman of the nominating committee for 1969, proposed Mrs. James Thornton as co-chairman of the group for next year and chairman for 1970. This was approved unanimously. Mrs. Ralph Mather and Mrs. Edward Rogers of the prize committee made awards on the basis of the past season's competition.

BOWLING NOTES

Procaccini Has 640 Series. A final game 258 pushed Fred Procaccini of Nassau Market-Wright Store in the A League to a 640 series last week at the Princeton Recreation Lanes on Nassau Street. Fred's other games were 178 204.

Frank Cawley of Antler's rolled a consistent 214-207-203 for 624, while Joe Pfister had 222-226, Jim Kahnny, 202-208; and Bob Cifelli a pair of 204s. High single games: Jerry Perpetua, 225; Tom Sculerati, 224; Art Pellichero, 221; and Al Hicks, 214. Jake Bartolino had 209.

The standings tightened with four points separating the top five. Balestrieri saw its lead of two points hold fast, but three teams are tied for second with 32 each — Princeton Gulf, Smith Bindery and Antlers. Applegarth Inn has 30.

Scores were up in the Tri-County Firemen's League. Stanley Donald of No. 1 and George Luck of Kingston each parlayed a good game to break 600. Donald had 194-236-174 — 604; Luck, 178-195-235 — 603. Jack Petrone of No. 1 fashioned the high single game of 243.

Others: Joe Pfister, 224; Dick Traegler, 215 and Phil Rodefeld, 211. Ray Slivinsky, Al Kren, Paul Teresker, Bill Davall, Ed Lemore, Bucky Cupples and Ray Mount were between 204 and 200.

Lawrence is still on top with 36 points, four more than Mercer No. 3 and Griggstown, tied for second. Plainsboro has 30, Princeton Junction, 28.

Tiger Garage earned six points in the Nassau League to widen its lead to 40-34 over Princeton Aviation and Grover Lumber — the latter two tied. First Aid and Italian-American Sportsmen Club are tied for third with 30 each. Howe Realty has 28.

Fred Goeke of Plumbers and Steamfitters 380 leveled the most pins — 628 on games of 189-245-194. Vince Tufano missed an opportunity to take scoring honors after he dipped to 169 on his third game after rolling 234-210 — 613. That was a pin less than the series fashioned by Jerry Perpetua of Princeton Aviation who had 182-243-189 — 614.

Ed Duncan Sr. had 215, Sal DiMeglio 212, and Nick Sculerati, 201. Jim Wheeler just made it with an even 200.

In the Mixed League, Ken Chilcote and Al Hibard were high with 213s. Ray Slovinsky Jr. of King Pins had 181, while Myrtle Smith of Taps was high among the women with 191.

Mixers and King Pins are 1-2 with 22 and 20 points. Spares and Taps have 16 each.

Greg Kline leveled 517 pins in the Blue Angels Hi Y high school league on games of 179 192 146. Jim Silvester had a pair, 164 170. Others: Willie Rosso, 130; Leo Orsi, 169; Peter Thompson, 151; and Jeff Grover, 153.

Missiles is in first place with 30 points, followed by Turkeys (24), Operators (10) and Hi-lo's(8).

Carol Lisi of fifth-place Rocky Hill Inn was most effective in the Business Women's League as she rolled 196-182 for a 529 series. Anne Hibbard has 189 161- — 503. Others: Jean Donald, 179; Charlotte Rossi, 172-164; Diane Fowler, 170 169; Carole Harris, 169; Dot Wheeler, 168; and Marge Drummond, 165.

In the standings, Claridge Liquors is on top with 40, followed by Balestrieri, 36. Balestrieri earning six points to climb from third — Ivy Inn 36; Princeton Taxi, 32, and Rocky Hill Inn, 30

Colonial in Lawrence Township in a country setting. A most attractive house with an entrance hall, living room with fireplace, television room, dining room, excellent kitchen with breakfast area, laundry and powder rooms, 4 nice corner bedrooms, 2 baths. Two-car garage, basement and a real attic. $45,000

An unusual redwood split level in the village of Lawrenceville, on a beautifully landscaped and secluded lot, with a swimming pool and a delightful summer house with a fireplace, overlooking a brook. There are 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, living room with fireplace, wonderful country kitchen with sliding glass doors which open onto a terrace, playroom, and garage. Many extras. $43,000

Enjoy the beauty of the Hopewell Valley hills from the marvelous screened porch of this one-floor house. Entrance hall, living room with corner fireplace, separate dining room, large kitchen, three bedrooms, study, two baths. Basement. Large expansion attic. Two-car garage. Lovely grounds. $65,000

Small estate within minutes of Princeton. Over 7 acres with three fenced pastures, lighted and fenced riding ring, barn with four horse stalls and tack room. There is a filtered and fenced swimming pool and a wading pool for the young set. The main house, built in the early 1800's, is unique. The rooms are large and have high ceilings. The kitchen has a fireplace, as do the living room, study, and master bedroom; four additional bedrooms, 2 baths, and powder room. The wide floorboards and interesting use of old wood add a special charm. The attractive guest house has a family kitchen with fireplace, living room, three bedrooms and bath. $135,000

HOUGHTON REAL ESTATE

Nassau Inn Building

FRESH ON MARKET — Owner transferred — and not happy to leave this 2 year old two story Colonial in perfect condition! The house contains four bedrooms, 2½ baths, family room with fireplace, and kitchen with dining area. — The air-conditioning you may not appreciate right now — but just wait! A delightful home in Montgomery Township. $19,900

IN PRINCETON BOROUGH — A 6 bedroom, 3 bath home with glassed sunporch, living room with fireplace. The kitchen has a dining area, and there is a separate dining room. The house needs redecorating, but look at the price, and the house is within walking distance of Nassau Street. $65,000

ON LAKE CARNEGIE — Lovely hillside contemporary with lower level. 5 bedrooms, 2 full and 2 half baths. From the living room you can enter wood deck overlooking the lake! The kitchen has a dining area, and there is a separate dining room. On the lower level — which has an outside entrance, there is a playroom for the children. This great family home is situated on a lovely lot with trees overlooking Lake Carnegie. $85,000

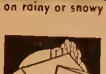
Let Woolsey and Cadwallader's Home Design Center Help Your Home Grow, Along With Your Growing Family!

WE'LL HELP YOU PLAN THE ADDED LIVING SPACE THAT BEST SUITS YOUR NEEDS. DECOR AND BUDGET. WE CAN ASSURE YOU OF COMPLETE SATISFACTION.

ENJOY A BASEMENT REC ROOM

The perfect place for a holiday party, family get-together or casual entertaining.

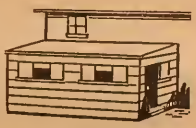
It's roomy, cheerful and easy to clean up after your guests have gone. And all year 'round, you can use it for hobbies, family fun, catching up on some work at home or just relaxing in private. A great place for the kids to play on rainy or snowy days, too.



ADD A COMPLETELY FINISHED ROOM.

You can enjoy a many-faceted room — library, family room or extra bedroom — finished in the warm wood paneling.

ENCLOSE YOUR PORCH FOR YEAR-ROUND USE.



The floor and roof are already there. We'll add the walls so you can enjoy this extra room all year. You can add heat now or later.

ADD ALUMINUM SIDING

Give you home a handsome new look that will increase its value. Siding also helps save you money on fuel costs during the winter, and maintenance costs all year long.

CONVERT YOUR ATTIC FOR LIVING OR SLEEPING. Use the space you already have for an extra bedroom, guest room or just plain living.

ADD A CUSTOM GARAGE. Attached or detached. ALL Models. ALL Styles. ALL Sizes.

It does things other small cars shouldn't do.

Cornering at high speeds is one of the last things to expect small cars to do, successfully. Unless it's a SAAB, the out-of-the-ordinary small car. Out of the ordinary because it has front-wheel drive. So it doesn't push you around like others do. It pulls you around corners, curves and other drivers' mistakes. Is that all SAAB has? Not on your life. Most ordinary cars don't give you, even as options, all the standard SAAB safety features. As an optional extra, our new V-4 engine has a LIFETIME GUARANTEE.

SAAB

You can drive it like a big car.

WHEATSHEAF LANE . . . on one of Princeton's loveliest streets, this little gem of a house is ideal for a couple dreaming of retirement. First floor: living room, dining room, modern kitchen with a screened deck just out the back door where one can loiter over a late breakfast and listen to the music of Harry's Brook in the back yard . . . plus 2 bedrooms and a brand new tiled bath. Downstairs: a large recreation room, with bar, with a door to the back yard. The lot is small and easy to maintain, but the trees and shrubs are so luxuriant that they create a privacy which you will prize forever. New refrigerator-freezer and combination washer-dryer are included in the sale. (*) $37,000

NEW COLONIALS . . . built by one of Princeton's most dependable builders, these fine new homes are located among tall trees on a quiet cul-de-sac in West Windsor Township. For commuters, only three minutes away from the railroad station. All six homes will be ready for occupancy in the Spring. 4 bedrooms, 2½ baths, family rooms. Now is the time for you to make your choice, while you're still able to choose colors, equipment, etc. Your children will love the area, for there are many playmates in this young neighborhood. By all means, see these fine homes before you decide. Priced in middle 40's.

MANY EXTRAS . . . here is a beautiful home in a very nice new neighborhood in Lawrenceville where your children can find many, many playmates. 4 bedrooms, 3 baths, central air-conditioning. However, a mere recital of rooms and other such details will never give you the true picture of this property. What makes this fine home so unusual is the fact that the owners have put so much more into their house — base-board heat, for example, so that there's no ductwork to enable them to freshen the indoor air in Winter when they entertain; wall-to-wall carpeting; a pair of real old carriage lamps beside the front door; a larger than usual deck outside the dining room; a TV antenna with rotor; special landscaping . . . the list is really quite long! Add up all the extras, and you'll agree that this is an excellent value. $47,500

NEAR THE LAKE . . . and with central air-conditioning too! On a high lot with many lofty shade trees, this fine home will appeal to people who appreciate perfection. The living room, with its high ceiling, companionable fireplace and the opulent wall-to-wall carpeting, has a balcony leading to 3 bedrooms (one extra large, for it was planned to be two) and two baths. The dining room is very spacious, and the very modern kitchen has plenty of space for table and chairs. Downstairs: family room with bar, guest (or maid's) room and bath. Two-car attached garage. In the attic, a darkroom and lots of storage space. Outdoors: a large swimming pool in a completely fenced yard, beautifully landscaped. (*) $65,000

LAWRENCE . . . two-story stone and frame Colonial, located in a fine residential neighborhood with many towering trees. Large living & dining rooms. Lovely new kitchen, plus butler's pantry. Two fireplaces, 6 bedrooms, 4 baths and powder room. Located near a college and across the road from a golf club, this fine home is a place you'll love to live in and always be proud of. $79,500

BROOKSTONE . . . in one of Princeton's most beautiful wooded areas, this large brick and frame residence, with central air-conditioning, has a spacious foyer, large living room with fireplace, dining room, library with fireplace, modern kitchen, 4 bedrooms, 2 baths, powder room and, on the second floor, a huge upstairs family room. Two acres of land, with beautiful trees and shrubs. This is a large house, designed and built for people of means. The owners have enjoyed it during the years their children were growing up and going to school, and now it is ready for you. You'll benefit from all the thoughtful care this fine home has had, and you'll always be thankful for the landscaping which makes the setting so beautiful . . . and so perfect! $115,000
